J. R. Mayone Named GOP City Chairman

Letters of resignation were filed with the Republican City Committee Wednesday night by Joseph F. Carroll Jr., the committee's chairman and William C. Klein, assistant chairman, and John Ray Mayone, Family Court stenographer, was named chairman was left for later consideration. The committee is due to meet again next Thursday.

Carroll, who is to continue serving as the city's alderman-at-large, addressed his letter to Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee, and cited overlapping civic and business responsibilities as his reason for resigning.

Klein addressed his letter to Carroll and cited business and family reasons plus lack of opportunity to work with Carroll.

Pressed for Time
Carroll's letter:

"Subsequent to our discussion at your (Wilson's) office I, Albany, it is with deep regret that I must offer my resignation as chairman of the Republican City Committee, effective with your appointment of a new chairman. I find it difficult to say how much I regret this action, for the position of trust you have bestowed upon me is one which I have valued greatly as an opportunity to serve my party and community in a vital manner."

"However, the demands of the post of city chairman, coming on top of my responsibilities as alderman-at-large, have taken a disproportionate amount of time and effort at the expense of my business, family, and in the time I am able to devote to my young children in the years when they need me most."

Discusses Matter
"I have searched my soul, discussed the matter in great detail with my wife, with my trusted assistant city chairman, Bill Klein, and with my manager at the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company."

"All have agreed that I must place the fortunes and needs of my family first, and divert a portion of my service to the party and community, and to developing a more secure and prosperous business career."

"Inasmuch as I am resigning, Bill Klein, upon whom I have relied so greatly, and who has experienced the same personal sacrifices as I, also is tendering his resignation as assistant city chairman.

Praises Wilson
"I want to take this opportunity to tell you that Bill has been a full partner in everything I have accomplished for the party, and has been invaluable to me in building a stronger spirit and organization in our city committee."

"We both wish to thank you for the wonderful support and guidance you have given us, and to express our confidence in the continued success of the Republican Party under your leadership."

Difficult Decision
Klein, in his letter to Carroll said:

"It is always a sad occasion when you must relinquish your opportunity to do something for your organization and community, which you feel is important. But sometimes we want to do more for people than we can afford to do, and still be fair to our loved ones."

"Now you are stepping down, and I understand only too well how difficult a decision this has been for you."

"Politics for you, as for me, has been a well loved, if overly expensive extra curricular activity."

"As you know, my first reaction when you asked me to work with you as assistant city chairman, was that I couldn't afford either the time or energy. But I reconsidered because by that time you and I had too much invested as a team for me to let you go it alone."

Gives His Reasons
"Kingston will lose something of great value when you step down as Republican City Chairman, and perhaps I, as your assistant city chairman, know it better than anyone else."

"So Joe when you step down, I shall resign also for several good reasons:

1. We had to fight for the right to pick your own assistant, and I believe the principle was right—whomever follows you must have the opportunity to pick his own assistant."

2. The demands of political leadership are far too extensive for the time I can afford to relinquish from my business and family also."

3. And finally, Carroll and Klein are a team, and politics just wouldn't be the same without you."

Driver Education Stressed as One Of Vital Subjects

Approximately 75 people attended Wednesday night's regional conference on traffic safety education and heard that there must be increasing public support for driver training.

Guest speaker at the event in Kingston High School cafeteria was Paul H. Blaisdell, director of special activities Insurance Information Institute.

His topic was "False Economy of Inadequate Education" in which he covered why driver education is as essential, and more so in some instances, as any subjects on high school curricula.

Introduction was by Lawrence T. Plog Jr., driver education teacher at Kingston High School, and president of Mid-Hudson Chapter Driver and Safety Educators Association of New York State.

"During the last 25 years I have looked at driver education from many vantage points," the speaker said, "as a graduate of a teachers college, as a teacher in secondary schools, as a current lecturer in graduate studies at a university, as a former employee of state and federal government in the field of traffic and transportation" and he stressed that the training deserves major consideration in making up a school budget.

It is as important to train students in driver education as it is in languages, mathematics, social studies, chemistry or any of the other studies because of its relation to everyday use and its link to human values.

Domingo Rebels Accuse U. S. of Coercion Moves

By LOUIS UCHITELLE
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Leaders of the Dominican rebel congress sent a message to non-Communist nations around the world Wednesday night accusing the United States of coercion in Dominican internal affairs.

The attack on the U.S. intervention in the Dominican crisis was signed by Arevalo Cedeno Valdez and Anibal Campagna as presidents of the Chamber of Deputies and Senate dissolved by the overthrow of President Juan Bosch in 1963.

Sent to parliamentary leaders in the Western Hemisphere, Europe, the Middle East and Asia, the message asked for support of the "free and democratic parliaments" of the world. It did not go to Cuba, Haiti, the Soviet Union or Red China.

Point to Pressure
The cable said it was "no longer a secret how the United States government, employing dilatory tactics that could be qualified as coercive, have strongly pressured responsible personalities and organisms in Santo Domingo and abroad with the manifest desire to impose solutions openly contrary to the democratic interests of the Dominican people and the 1963 constitution."

The message obviously referred to attempts by special envoys of President Johnson to get the rebel and junta factions to set up a coalition government headed by Antonio Guzman, agriculture minister under Bosch.

The junta president, Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, also assailed the plan as "a frank intervention in the internal affairs" of this Caribbean nation.

but the rebels had indicated they were in favor of it.

Tornadoes Roar Through Sections Of Eight States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes and thunderstorms hammered eight states in the nation's midsection Wednesday, killing at least two persons, injuring several others and causing extensive property damage.

The twisters whipped across sections of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Ohio and Oklahoma.

Power Lineman Killed

A lineman was killed in Elkhart, Ind., when strong winds blew a dangling power line against him. He was repairing damage from the Palm Sunday tornadoes. One person was killed by lightning in Sylvania, Ohio, a Toledo suburb.

The Chicago metropolitan area was lashed by violent weather including five tornadoes. At least 11 persons suffered injuries. Twisters hit some populous areas. No deaths were reported.

"It looked like someone had a string and was pulling it down to earth," said a pilot who watched a tornado from his plane 2,000 feet up.

View Queen's Visit As Final Pardon

BERLIN (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II flew 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain today to West Berlin. East German agents were planning "terrorist attacks" on the Berlin wall during her 5½-hour visit.

The queen's 22-mile route through the city took her past the barbed wire-topped wall, but there were no plans for her to stop at it. British officials said this was done to spare her any anti-Western posters such as the East Germans put up for President Kennedy's visit to the wall in June 1963.

See 'Provocations'
The East German Radio asserted that "terrorists" of the West German intelligence service run by Gen. Reinhard Gehlen were planning "provocations" against the border of the (East) German Democratic Republic."

The broadcast also charged that West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's flight to West Berlin Wednesday night aboard a U.S. Air Force plane to greet the queen was a violation of East German air space.

East Germany's Red government said a month ago it had no objection to the queen's visit to West Berlin. But this week the East German Foreign Office accused Erhard, by coming to meet her, of trying to "use the visit as an aggressive demonstration" of West Germany's claims to West Berlin.

British, West German and West Berlin authorities ignored the Communists.

The East Germans did not object to the queen's visit because officially she came to inspect British troops who with American and French soldiers make up West Berlin's Allied garrison. But West Berliners viewed her coming as an expression of British solidarity with them and arranged a big welcome.

None Come Close
It was Elizabeth's first flight over Communist territory in her 12-year reign. During the 15 minutes her Royal Air Force turboprop plane was over East Germany, radar observers spotted a number of unidentified planes in the air corridor she used. But none appeared to come close to the royal plane.

One West Berlin newspaper said Elizabeth's visit would rank with Kennedy's among the most important events in Berlin's postwar history.

Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, landed at the British military airport in the suburb of Gatow. They were welcomed by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and Chancellor Erhard.

Elizabeth's visit to West Berlin was the climax of her state visit to West Germany, which began May 18 and ends when she sails for home Friday aboard the royal yacht Britannia. She is the first British monarch to visit Germany in 52 years.

Center of Attraction
For 10 days now Elizabeth has been the center of the former enemy nation's attention. Newspapers publish pages of pictures and stories about her daily. Television stations show hours-long segments of her tour in live broadcasts. Thousands of Germans turn out to cheer wherever she goes.

For many Germans the royal visit is the final pardon after two world wars as Britain's enemy. They hope that this act of grace will soften anti-German feelings which have been more harshly and frequently expressed in England than in any other former enemy country in the West.

Zaretzki said he would support a resolution under which the Joint Legislative Committee on Matrimonial and Family Laws would make a study and present its proposals by Dec. 1.

Aircraft Keep Up Strikes

Destroyers Blast Reds First Time

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Army helicopters and Vietnamese troops shot up a Viet Cong gathering 25 miles south of Da Nang today and killed about 85 of the enemy. Twenty-five suspects were captured.

A Vietnamese marine major said seized documents indicated the Viet Cong were holding a high-level meeting of many unit officers in the area.

Yank Gunner Wounded

One Vietnamese soldier was killed and three wounded in the attack. One American helicopter gunner was injured slightly.

More than four dozen planes pursued the air war north of the border. A military spokesman announced 20 U.S. and Vietnamese fighter-bombers, flying with a five-plane escort, rained 55 tons of bombs on a North Vietnamese army barracks and supply area 220 miles south of Hanoi.

Pilots reported 65 per cent of their targets destroyed and heavy damage to the remainder of the Ben Quang barracks-supply area.

A U.S. Navy pilot was believed killed when Communist ground fire brought down his F8 Crusader during another strike. Two U.S. Army men were killed the day before in ground clashes. The total of U.S. combat deaths in Viet Nam rose to 389.

Identifies Dead

(The Defense Department in Washington, evidently referring to the Crusader pilot, said Navy Cmdr. Doyle W. Lynn of La Mesa, Calif., was killed on an operational mission. It identified one of the two U.S. Army men killed Wednesday as Capt. Florent B. Brainerd III of Vermillion, Ohio.)

Four Navy Skyraiders from the carrier Midway attacked a ferry and destroyed a PT boat on the Song Ca River 140 miles south of Hanoi, the spokesman reported.

Damage Six Bridges

Twelve other U.S. planes damaged six wooden bridges 200 miles south of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

The spokesman also reported that planes from the carriers Oriskany and Bon Homme Richard dropped 100 tons of bombs and destroyed or damaged more than 100 buildings in strikes Wednesday against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam.

One Skyraider from the Oriskany was destroyed in a take-off accident that slightly injured three members of the carrier's crew.

A U.S. spokesman disclosed that U.S. Navy destroyers have entered the ground war, firing six missions since May 20 against Viet Cong targets in the coastal areas of South Viet Nam's Binh Dinh, Binh Tuan and Phu Yen provinces.

The spokesman said four destroyers had fired more than 370 rounds against Communist targets. The destroyer Sommers was credited with thwarting an attack May 21 on Hai Long district headquarters, northeast of Saigon. The spokesman said the Sommers' guns killed 12 Viet (Continued on Page 16, Col. 3)

Senate, Assembly Split On Proposed Ethics Code

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Senate and Assembly were split today on how far the Legislature should go in enacting an ethics code to prevent conflicts between the public and private interests of its members.

The disagreement spelled new delay in reaching a joint decision on an ethics bill.

Some observers believed the continuing changes in the legislation jeopardized its chances of final approval.

The Senate Finance Committee watered down, as far as active legislators were concerned, an Assembly-passed bill and sent it to the floor Wednesday.

A vote on the revised version is scheduled for next week.

But the two houses must agree on an identical measure before the long-delayed ethics issue is resolved.

In a major change by the Senate committee, the Assembly bill was cut back to eliminate a provision that would have barred lawyer-legislators from appearing, for a fee, before state regulatory agencies. A proposed ban on appearances before the State Court of Claims was retained.

As a result of the changes, no final action is expected until the closing days of the session, now scheduled to adjourn around mid-June.

These were other developments:

—The Senate gave final legislative approval to Gov. Rockefeller's Bill to drive loan sharks out of the money market. The measure, which was sent to the governor for his signature, provides for heavy fines and prison sentences for anyone who charges more than 25 per cent interest on a loan.

—A bill to ban the use of "professional strikebreakers" as substitutes for workers who left their jobs in a labor dispute was defeated in the Senate, 26-22.

REPAIRING TRINITY LUTHERAN SPIRE—Scaffolding goes up on Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone Streets, as workmen prepare to completely restore 145-foot tower. Scaffolding will be replaced and the ornament atop the tower will be retouched with goldleaf. The work is part of a long range restoration and repair program at the 90-year old church. Every effort is being made to preserve the church and tower which is known throughout the valley as a landmark. It is expected that the final phases will be completed by Labor Day. Rededication services will be held shortly after. Other projects to be completed during the summer include exterior and interior painting. During July and August while the sanctuary is being redecorated services will be held in the new assembly hall in the basement of the church. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Prospects Improve for Legislative Review of N. Y. 177-Year Divorce Laws

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects were improved today for a close legislative review aimed at making major changes in New York's rigid divorce laws.

Proponents of a more liberal statute had a promise from Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki that he would back plans for a study aimed at broadening the grounds for divorce.

The only grounds now in New York State's 177-year-old divorce laws is adultery.

Zaretzki's announcement was one of several developments on legislation Wednesday. There were these other highlights:

—Gov. Rockefeller's legislation to combat loan sharks gained final legislative approval in the Assembly and was sent to the governor for his signature.

The administration measure prescribes heavy fines and prison sentences for anyone who loans money at more than 25 per cent interest.

—The Assembly approved and routed to the senate a bill to put more legal muscle into the ability the State Commission for Human Rights has to deal with complaints of bias.

The Senate defeated, 26-22, a bill to ban the use of "professional strikebreakers" in labor disputes. Republicans opposing the measure drew support from several Democrats.

—The Senate passed and sent to the Assembly a bill under which disabled workers drawing benefits under the Workmen's Compensation program would receive $4 for each child, up to a maximum $12 extra a week.

The bill was criticized by some senators who said the plan would increase by $15 million the state-mandated costs of industry. It was passed on a vote of 37-20.

Zaretzki said he would support a resolution under which the Joint Legislative Committee on Matrimonial and Family Laws would make a study and present its proposals by Dec. 1.

It was not clear, however, whether the Legislature would approve such a study.

Sen. Jerome Wilson, D-Manhattan, had sponsored legislation to create a special committee to study the divorce law. But he accepted the idea for a study by the existing committee.

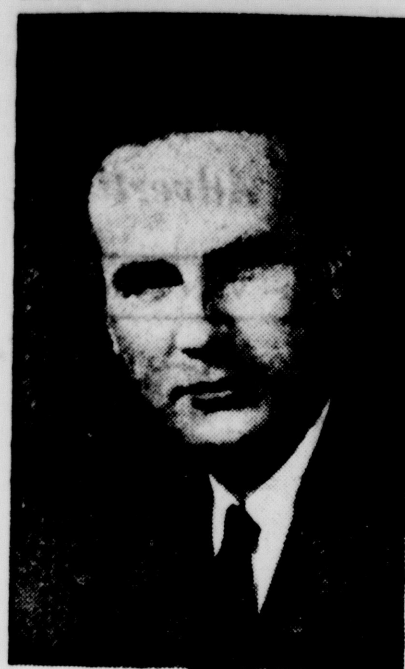

Wilson blamed the divorce law for figuring largely in the $24-million annual cost of providing public assistance to families who had been deserted by the husband.

"Desertion is the poor man's divorce," Wilson declared.

He also argued that couples wanting to obtain New York State divorces resort to fraud and collusion to prove adultery.

The proposed study drew strong opposition from Sen. Earl Boyle, D-Onondaga. He said the existing law was satisfactory.

Any liberalization of the divorce law would "weaken the moral fibre of our family life," Boyle told the Senate.

ROBERT W. ROEHR Will Join Area Library Staff

A St. Louis, Mo., native, Robert W. Roehr, will join the professional staff as Adult Services Consultant of Mid-Hudson Libraries on June 1, it was announced today.

Leon Karpel, director of the five-county system, said Roehr for the past four years has been librarian of the La Grange (Ill.) Public Library and previously served as librarian of the Jeffersonville (Ind.) Township Public Library. He also served as a staff member of the Readers' Advisory Service of the St. Louis Public Library.

After taking his B.S. degree at Washington University, St. Louis, with a major in social science and a minor in library science, Roehr completed his M.S. in library science at the University of Illinois.

Martorana Will Push Fight for Senate Candidacy

Plattekill Supervisor Joseph Martorana, the only announced Republican candidate from Ulster County for the new 43rd Senate District seat, said today that his hat is still in the ring for the Republican nomination and that he will now reactivate his campaign.

Martorana's announcement followed the latest ruling by a Federal Court that an election must be held this Fall to elect a new State Legislature under the Republican Plan. A. This plan includes in the new Senate District all of the counties of Ulster, Greene and Sullivan and part of Orange.

In making known his plans, Martorana explained that he will continue his campaign where he left off several weeks ago when the Courts by their differing opinions and decisions cast uncertainty upon the holding of an election this Fall. He will continue his visits with city and town committeemen and Republican Clubs throughout Ulster County seeking support for his candidacy.

The Senatorial candidate said that although he is aware a tough fight lies ahead, he is confident that through his grassroots appeal to the rank and file Republicans he will get the Republican nomination.

Martorana indicated that as a candidate from Ulster County he will seek the support and endorsement of county Republican leaders and from the chairman and members of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee. The Chairman, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, is also a candidate for State office seeking re-election to his position as Assemblyman from Ulster County.

Adonai Lodge Plans Barbecue on June 20

Plans are progressing for the annual barbecue scheduled June 20, members of Adonai Lodge 718, F&AM, were informed at a meeting earlier this week.

Lewis Schaeffert, chairman, reported baby-sitting services will be available for the Father's Day event as well as pony rides for children and a lounge area for patrons to sit and relax after the barbecue.

The barbecue will be held on the grounds of Masonic Temple in Highland from 2 until 5:30 p. m.

It was reported a large delegation from Adonai Lodge attended the meeting in Hoffman Lodge, Middletown, to witness a third degree.

Lewis Schaeffert, senior warden, was master at this week's meeting.

LONDON (AP)—Plans have been announced here for the resumption of full-scale theological discussions between the Anglican Communion and the Eastern Orthodox Church after a lapse of more than 30 years. Jurors Dismissed For May Term

Trial jurors attending the May term of Supreme Court were dismissed for the term Wednesday afternoon when a case which had been scheduled for trial was adjourned.

The case settled was an automobile negligence action brought by Linda Ann Paccione and another against Clarence Dallas, Michael Nardone appeared for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook for defendant.

Justice Louis Bruhn has presided at the Part I and heard the jury cases. Justice Roscoe V. Ellsworth presided at Part II and heard pre-trial matters.

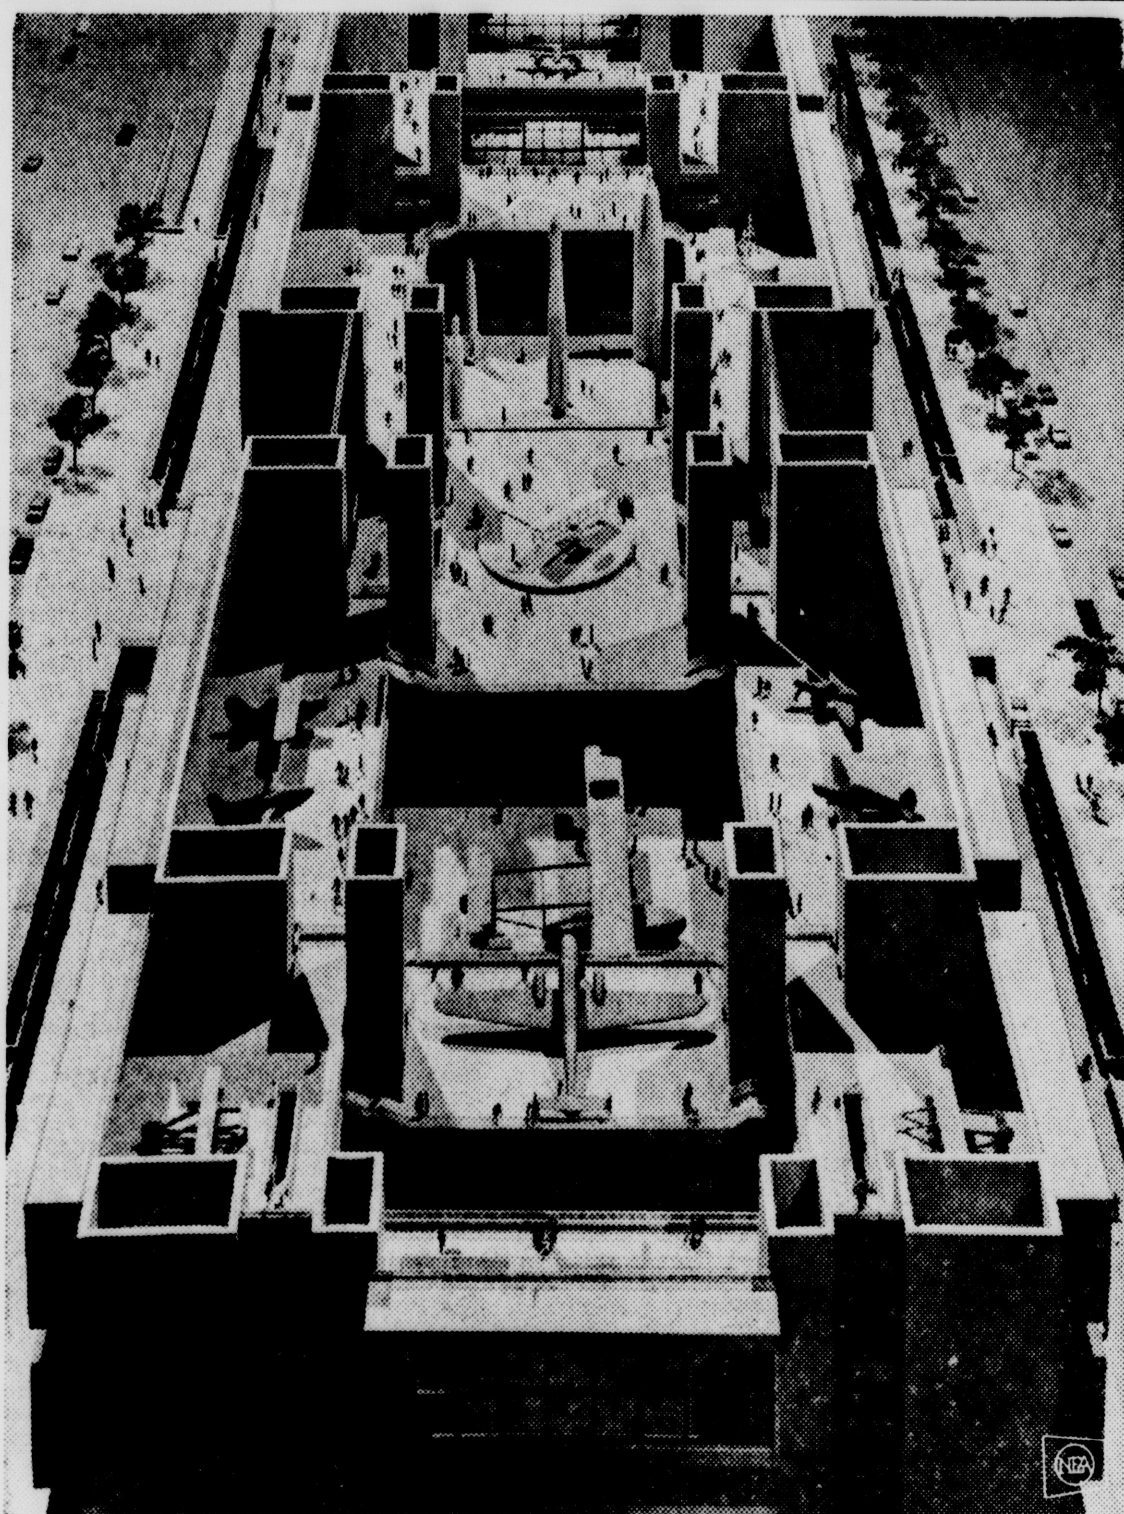

In dismissing the jurors Justice Ellsworth Wednesday complimented them on their attentiveness to their duty and noted that they had not seen much of him during the term and he explained that while Justice Bruhn was engaged in trial work with a jury, he had been engaged in "pre-trial" work at chambers. As a result of the two-part term it had been possible to dispose of seven cases by jury trial and an additional 70 to 75 other cases were removed from the calendar by means of pre-trial conferences in chambers.

Justice Ellsworth told the jurors that he realized the ventilation in the new basement jury-room was "not all it should be" and he said it would be corrected and surroundings made "more pleasant." Justice Ellsworth said that Commissioner of Jurors John L. Smith and he, had made suggestions for bettering the condition. He said that the court house did not belong to the judges, the officials or any other persons who worked there but "belongs to the people of the county" and he said steps would be taken to make the facilities more pleasant and comfortable. He invited suggestions.

In addressing the jurors Justice Ellsworth spoke of changing conditions in the courts. Since he had assumed the bench, Justice Ellsworth said, the conduct of the courts had changed. He two-part term had been inaugurated permitting the disposition of a large number of cases at such terms and he noted that in the past courts had convened at 2 p. m. on Mondays and usually adjourned Friday afternoons. Now longer hours were in force and attempts were being made to speed trial work.

The $40-million structure also will house a library for space research. The Smithsonian hopes to begin construction next year with completion set for 1969.

Jersey Man Held

George Camire, 25, of 147 Oakwood Avenue, Bogota, N. J., was arrested on a warrant by state police, charged with second degree grand larceny. The charge allegedly involves checks. Before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly of Town of Ulster, Camire waived examination and was held for grand jury action. He was committed to jail.

Dutchess Driver Held

Ernest A. Carlson Jr., 39, of 18 Nassau Road, Poughkeepsie, was arrested at 2:35 a. m. today in the Town of Lloyd on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Deputy Sheriff Guy A. Rider and Thomas J. O'Brien, who made the arrest, charged that they had observed Carlson driving at a high rate of speed south on Route 9W, that his car was in the middle of the road and at times was weaving from side to side. A blood test was taken at the Kingston Hospital. Remanded to jail for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Robert Stedje, Carlson posted $200 bail today and was released pending a hearing later.

Swim Program Up This Season Over 1964 at 'Y'

A marked increase in both attendance and passing skills for aquatic rank in the Kingston YMCA Aquatics Program for the first four months this year, was reported today by Bud Sims, physical program director for the "Y."

Sims said that the increase was noted over the comparative period last year and 35 boys have already achieved rank this year in the chain of "minnow," "fish," "flying fish" and "shark" classifications.

Instructions are given on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday beginning at 4:30 p. m. after the boys finish the gym work. The instruction ends 5:15. Wednesdays and Saturdays are recreation swims where the boys can practice or play as they desire. A breakdown of the achievement ratings for January, February, March and April shows that the following boys passed the classification tests: Minnows, Jack Abernethy, Timothy Ferraro, James Gallagher, William Powers, Leo Smith, Dave McNamara, Michael Naccaro, Richard Sarkies, Ronald Shiels, Harold Wynkoop, Timothy Brooks, Timothy Ross, William Samuels, Clifford Hotelling, Paul Stymluf, Bruce Snyder and Harry McNamara; Fish tests: Donald Mearns, Leo Smith, Jack Abernethy, Casey Coon, Kyle Murray, William Powers, Dave McNamara, Harold Wynkoop and Ronald Shiels; Flying Fish: David Short, Mark Skatrud, Van Symons, David McNamara, Steven Naccaro, Ronald Shiels, Leo Smith and Harold Wynkoop; and Shark, Wayne Fatum.

Among the skills necessary for Shark status are a 40 foot underwater swim, and a distance swim of 540 yards plus the ability to do front dive, back dive, front half twist and back jack-knife dives. Sims said the instruction classes average 30 boys, per session and that the recreation swims average 45 boys per session. He said that the "Y" operates swimming classes for boys and girls straight through the summer and that anyone desiring information concerning swimming instruction should contact the YMCA.

The YMCA is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

TEN YEARS OF FREEDOM

Austria's presidential election is another reminder that the Austrians have just celebrated the 10th anniversary of their freedom from the Soviet Union. Though no one knows just what brought this freedom about, it is appreciated nonetheless.

World War II left Austria occupied by the forces of the Allies, including Russia. Overtures to loosen the Russian grip had failed, the Soviet Union insisting that the occupation must remain until a German peace treaty was signed. This stand was reiterated in 1954, when the foreign ministers conferred at Berlin.

But a year later Vyacheslav M. Molotov, the Russian foreign minister, announced surprisingly that the demand for continued occupation had been withdrawn. Three months later Austria was free. The Russians had even dropped their demand for controlling Austria's oil industry for the next 30 years.

Why this change of heart? Russia was under no compulsion to act with such seeming generosity. There is little doubt that, had Stalin been alive, the Russians would have kept a firm hold on Austria. Some think that Premier Khrushchev wanted to launch an era of accommodation between East and West. Maybe so; nobody on this side of the Iron Curtain seems to know.

As for the Austrians, they do not inquire much. After a decade of freedom, they are inclined to say, "Why look a gift horse in the mouth?"

RISK IN THE MINES

Are we requiring our miners to take more risks than do our soldiers? Congress has recently heard testimony to that effect. Figures given the legislators show a ratio of one fatality in 13,532 of the armed forces. A federal survey shows one fatality among each 1,088 men employed in metal and non-metal mines. Thus it is almost 13 times safer to be a service man than a miner.

One witness said Montana's mines have the nation's poorest safety record and that Butte has the worst record of fatal accidents of any major copper mining district in America. This witness blames automation indirectly. The mining companies, he said, are devoting their attention to speed-up methods "to the detriment of even minimum job-safety standards."

The hearing was on proposals to broaden federal inspection. Albert C. Skinner, president of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, called state mine-safety laws "shockingly antiquated and having a disgraceful record of enforcement."

The inquiry seems warranted. Making money by unduly risking the lives of employees is hardly the American way. To the extent that these accusations are true, corrective action is needed.

THE EXCISE TAX CUT

If all goes as anticipated, a lot of store customers will be getting 10 per cent rebates starting about the middle of June. Many establishments that sell such luxury items as jewelry, furs and toiletries are expected to promise such refunds if consumers will just go ahead and buy instead of holding off. This will be predicated on removal of the federal excise tax on these and numerous other items as of July 1.

That in turn is predicated on prompt congressional enactment of the excise tax cuts pretty much as President Johnson has proposed them. There is little reason to doubt that this will happen.

The coming action to end excises—not only those on such luxury goods as those mentioned above, but also a host of others applied to things most Americans now regard as necessities—culminates almost 20 years of effort by retailers to get relief from the wartime levies. Though the luxury taxes were cut from 20 to the present 10 per cent in 1954, Congress has held out against across-the-board ending of excises on grounds that the government could not afford to lose this income.

That idea is not yet dead. The biggest single revenue source, from the 10 per cent tax on autos, would not be dried up entirely under the Johnson plan; it asks a July 1

BLOOD ON THE MOON OF THE CARIBBEES

Is President Lyndon Johnson, who acted with such commendable dispatch to forestall a Castroite coup in the Dominican Republic, about to snatch defeat in the Caribbean from the jaws of victory?

This question was at once raised in Washington among knowledgeable Latin American experts when the news of the proposed McGee Bundy slate for a "compromise" Dominican government came through.

Since hypocrisy is of the very essence in the Dominican situation, nobody can be sure who will be representing what in any "compromise" regime that Washington chooses to back. But the "rebels," who, after all, distributed a huge quantity of small arms to some questionable elements in the first days of the pro-Bosch revolt, seem to be carrying off the truly important offices in the so-called compromise government.

The Bundy decision, as of this moment of writing, is that Antonio Guzman, who was Minister of Agriculture in the government of former President Bosch, is the best the U.S. can settle for as head of a new "constitutional" regime. Nobody is accusing Guzman of being a "soft-on-Communism" man under Bosch, but the question of his ability to force economic reforms on the Dominican Republic has been raised by those who studied the audits of the Banca Agricola, on whose governing board Guzman has sat. By North American standards the mortgage loans made by this bank, with Guzman's imprimatur as a director, have not been exactly gilt-edge.

More importantly, Guzman, as Bosch's Minister of Agriculture, loaded the agricultural extension service with numerous party hacks who, as this column's anti-Bosch informants in Washington insist, had to be unloaded by Mario Ricart, who was Donald Reid Cabral's appointee to the Agricultural secretaryship post. The charge is that at least twenty per cent of the extension service agents originally hired by Guzman not only lacked any sort of farm expertise but were illiterate as well.

Coming down the line, Milton Messina, who has been slated to become the new Dominican Minister of Finance, has a background that includes service as Dictator Trujillo's Ambassador to Canada and as the Trujillista Secretary of State for Industry and Governor of the Central Bank. This could be neither here nor there, for the Trujillo regime was served by honest men as well as by men of questionable standards. Messina might turn out to be the best Minister of Finance in the world. But the point made by Washington experts in Dominican affairs is that it is hypocritical to offer the proposed "compromise" government as being entirely devoid of people who had connections with the Trujillo regime.

Another hypocritical contention is that Colonel Loran Fernandez, who has been slated to be chief of staff of the armed forces in a Guzman cabinet, can be counted on to be objective in his proposed role of "compromise" army boss. After all, Colonel Fernandez rebelled against the authority of the Donald Reid Cabral government in order to serve as the dissident Colonel Caamaño's chief officer. This means that the most important post in the proposed "compromise" cabinet is in effect being offered as a reward for rebellion. The hypocrisy involved in the proposed transaction will be duly noted in Colombia, Guatemala, and other shaky Latin American lands.

Those who look askance at the proposed McGee Bundy "compromise" regime wonder if a "diplomatic Bay of Pigs" may not be in the works. They point out that nothing will be solved by a Guzman regime. The European and Cuban-trained Communist agents have already benefited from their coup; they have armed their men with machine guns, rifles, and grenades, and these men have already faded into the hills and into the urban "underground" where they will be able to set up business as Castroite "irregulars."

While a befuddled regime of "intellectuals" carries on, the Castroites will be able to await the day when the Marines leave the island. The anti-Bosch elements who have been armed by General Imbert may be just as loath as the Castroites to give up their weapons. So there's blood on the moon scheduled for the Dominican Republic any way you take it. (Copyright, 1965, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Vitamin Shortage Leads To Deficiency Diseases

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Love may make the world go around but where would we be without vitamins? We would be in a bad way, as anyone who has had any of the vitamin-deficiency diseases can tell you. Ascorbic acid (vitamin C) is the vitamin that is found in citrus fruits, berries, tomatoes, cabbage and other green vegetables. It is essential for healthy teeth, gums, bones and blood vessels.

A deficiency of the vitamin causes scurvy, a disease which causes the gums to bleed and become sore. Unless it is promptly treated, the teeth become loose and are lost. The skin becomes red and dry and small hemorrhages in the skin result in black and blue spots. The bones become weakened and when they break they do not heal.

Before vitamins were known, it was discovered in the British navy that sucking limes prevented scurvy and British seamen have been called limeys ever since. Vitamin C is water-soluble and so no poisoning occurs when large amounts are taken. As with all water-soluble vitamins, it is not stored in the body, so you must get some of it every day.

Vitamin D is necessary for strong teeth and bones. Without it, calcium and phosphorus are not used by the body. It is found in fortified milk, cod liver oil and egg yolk. The body also makes its own supply when the skin is exposed to sunlight. This vitamin is especially important in children to prevent rickets, manifested chiefly by bowing of the legs. Since this is a fat-soluble vitamin like vitamin A, it can be stored in the liver. Too large a dose can cause poisoning which is characterized by loss of appetite, weakness, peevishness, constipation and vomiting.

Vitamin K is found in leafy vegetables. The bacteria normal to the intestinal tract also manufacture it for us as a public service. It is necessary for normal clotting of the blood, hence it is sometimes used to check hemorrhage.

There are several other vitamins of lesser importance, or the importance of which has not yet been fully determined. One of these—vitamin E—will be the subject of tomorrow's column.

drop to 7 per cent retroactive to May 15, with a cutoff point at 5 per cent in January 1967. Similarly, the phone service tax would not be ended at once, but would drop to 3 per cent and then a point a year until it was eliminated in 1969.

But on the whole the philosophy behind the proposed excise tax cut is that ultimately it will stimulate the economy enough to bring in even more federal revenue. Experience with the income tax cut appears to support this view. So long as a sharp watch is kept for signs of inflation, the excise cut probably will be a good thing.

A decade later, historians still can't explain why Russia approved Austrian independence. As for the Austrians, they like it even if they can't explain it.

It's Not All Kid Stuff

Washington News

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Underlying the ferment here over U.S. foreign policy is a fairly old question — whether the government and the nation are obsessed with the threat of Communism.

It is being argued anew in some quarters that we not only see Communists under every bush, but that we ascribe to them strengths and capacities which they often do not have.

It is also asserted that our heavy focus on communism sometimes obscures the role played by nationalistic-imperialistic impulses in such a country as Red China.

We are told again that other free nations do not fret about the Communist menace the way we do. And some students of foreign affairs suggest it is perfectly sensible for Communist nations, like others, to build broad protective zones around themselves.

The arguments deserve a fresh review.

INQUIRIES AMONG policymakers in this capital do not in fact turn up people who think the Russians, the Chinese or any other Communists are really 10 feet tall. Nor do they believe Reds lurk behind every slub.

What they do think is that the Communists, whether directed from Moscow, Peking, Havana or Hanoi, have developed techniques of covert aggression which are peculiarly fitted to what James Montgomery of the State Department calls the "vulnerabilities" visible today in so many insecure nations around the world.

With these golden opportunities lying all about, the Communists can—in this frightening nuclear age—undertake a variety of small-risk games, from guerrilla warfare to stone-the-embassy.

The link between these subversive enterprises and the nationalistic-imperialistic ambitions of Moscow and Peking is a question stirring much debate among U. S. foreign affairs specialists.

THIS IS NOT THE PLACE to air the fine-spun arguments. The point is that some feel the United States might have better luck keeping nations out of the Moscow-Peking orbits by talking more about the menace of Russia and China and less about communism as such.

The other side thinks this is all academic, that vulnerable countries have grown sophisticated enough to see communism in all its aspects—a powerful weapon serving imperialist causes, a worldwide false front behind which ambitious imperialists try to widen their circle of supporters and diminish their enemies—at the minimum, a form and practice of government which, if victorious, "closes out the options" on all other kinds for long years to come.

There are some debaters who don't want us to worry at all, whether the problem be labeled "communism" or "Russia" or "China."

They contend that regional domination by large powers, whether through the compulsions of influence or through actual physical expansion as with China's moves into India and Tibet, is something we cannot prevent and ought to approve.

OUR GOVERNMENT opposes both expansion and "influence" which leads to a Communist take-over, not the least reason being that such moves destroy all choice for the trampled neighbors.

Nor does history back the notion that big powers who are allowed such dominance will then rest content and leave the world alone.

Captured German records from World War II showed that Hitler and his associates took every prewar Allied concession as proof of weakness. Yielding only whetted his appetite for conquest. Winning so easily at Munich, he was angry he had not asked for more.

The records show Hitler's real ambitions went far beyond the imaginations of any who were trying to avoid war by "satisfying his reasonable demands." It would not be well today to underestimate the ambitions of Moscow and Peking — however they be packaged and labeled.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I had a short but interesting visit at the Kingston Stamp exhibition at the Governor Clinton Hotel which was held May 1 and May 2. The Stamptravellers Society of Kingston which was organized Feb. 13, 1956 meets ever second and fourth Thursday of the month at the YWCA at 290 Clinton Avenue at 8 p. m. Visitors are welcome, I understand.

I am not a stamp expert or even really a collector, but once you visit one of these shows and meet all the charming people, you do have an informative and interesting time. They had a rare and unusual stamp display of the Harding stamp and Robert Fulton stamps, owned by Richard Ellis. The original engraving of Pres. Harding was on display.

I have heard so much about "Flag cancels" and saw Neil Larson's frame of them which I understand received a first award for U. S. stamps. I think they went from 1896 to 1918, and the cancel looks like a waving flag.

I am always happy to meet Miss Neufus and her mother from Hudson, and I hope she can obtain a Robert-Fulton stamp on an illustrated envelope for me. Herbert Greenwald greeted me at the door, and I met Harry Streifer later at the exhibit.

One exhibitor had old postal cards for sale. I could not resist buying "Scene in Central Park, New York City" which was taken before 1915. It shows a policeman walking in the park and wearing one of those early helmet-type hats. Children were playing with large hoops, ladies were in long dresses and sailor hats. Children were in sailor suits and knickers and long black hose, and everything was very orderly. The policeman was tall, and heavy built.

Harry Karlsson who specializes in Scandinavian and Vatican stamps sold me some first day issues of Franklin Delano and Eleanor Roosevelt stamps with various portraits and pictures, which I understand are privately printed and called "cachet" illustrated.

At this stamp show I received a copy of Linn's Weekly Stamp News, published at Sidney, Ohio, April 26, 1965 issue. On the front page it tells about the U. S. Post Office Department having issued procedures for first day cover collectors desiring cancellations of the Robert Fulton commemorative stamp. First day ceremonies for its release will be held Aug. 19, in Clermont. Requests for covers, however, should not be sent to Clermont; collectors should address their requests: "First Day Covers

Spending for Nonessentials Makes Tax Cuts Impossible

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Millions of citizens probably did not notice a small item in the newspapers this week reporting that the Secretary of the Treasury, Henry H. Fowler, has asked Congress for legislation to increase the limit of the public debt from $324 billion to $329 billion, to take effect on July 1.

Perhaps many citizens think—as do some officials here—that there is no limit to what the government of the United States may borrow, and that raising the public-debt ceiling by $5 billion is a piece of routine.

Actually, there is considerable significance in the fact that the United States Treasury keeps on asking Congress periodically to raise the debt limit. This has been going on for several years now. The public debt has risen from $16.2 billion in 1930 to $320 billion in 1965—only 35 years. The costs growing out of two world wars and the Korean War, of course, pushed up the debt of the government in that period.

But it is not the increase in military expenses — now about $50 billion a year—which alone keeps the public debt rising. There has been a tendency to spend just as much money on nonmilitary appropriations. For a while, tax rates, instead of being adjusted after a war was over, were retained at not far from the same levels. Only in recent years has there been a recognition of the fact that the tax rates might be inequitable and would produce more revenue if they could be adjusted to stimulate the economy.

But it is one thing to reduce tax rates, and quite another to keep on piling up deficits. If the government continues to spend money for many things that are not absolute essentials, there is no way to bring down expenses and balance the budget.

The average citizen isn't aware of the consequences of continuously unbalanced budgets. He thinks that the government is rich enough to pay its bills and that the public debt can always be refinanced by selling bonds to the banks and to the people generally. The history of governments, however, has shown that, while financing and refinancing is accepted as a normal process, there comes a time when doubts are raised as to whether the purchasing power of the monetary unit can be maintained.

The dollar doesn't buy today what it did ten years ago. Just this week, an Associated Press survey shows that costs of some foods are as much as 15 per cent higher this spring than a year ago and that in many instances food prices are at a record level. The causes, of course, are numerous. But as prices and wages rise, inflation sets in.

Fears of inflationary trends are often disregarded, on the theory that if the inflation is gradual and not sudden, it can be absorbed. But in the long run the dollar can become weaker and weaker as the government is unable to maintain a sound financial program. A UPI dispatch on Wednesday, for example, read in part as follows:

"White Sulphur Springs, Va.—President Johnson's top economic adviser today voiced concern over recent wholesale price increases and warned that inflation could force the government to stop cutting taxes and abandon other expansionary policies as well."

"Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, and factory prices have been 'edging up.' While the movement has been slight so far, the number of price increases 'seems to be accelerating,' Ackley said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association."

"The Administration official said many of the recent price increases are justified by higher costs and that some of them may not stick or will be eroded by competition. 'Yet there is just enough movement of prices to be disturbing,' he said."

"Surely none of us would welcome moving toward fiscal and monetary policies that restrict economic expansion, so long as resources remain in ample supply, simply as an indirect means of holding prices in check."

"Yet the time may come when pressures to do just that will become very strong," Askley said."

The Johnson administration holds out the hope that some day it will balance the budget. But it doesn't say when. There have been very few years in the last 20 when any surpluses have been accumulated, and even when more money is collected than spent, the excess is not used to pay off anything on the public debt. The assumption is that the debt limit can be raised indefinitely.

The fact remains that the debt keeps piling up as expenditures are larger than receipts. The big test of fiscal strength or weakness will come in the next two or three years when the effect of cuts in income taxes as well as in excise taxes can really be measured. For unless the economy is stimulated to wipe out the loss of revenue from reduced tax rates and some kind of surplus is achieved, the general impression in the financial markets of the world will be that the United States is in for an indefinite period of inflation.

Quick Quiz

Q—When was the first time the House elected a president as a result of a tie in the Electoral College?

A—In 1800, when the House of Representatives, on the 36th ballot, elected Thomas Jefferson president. The second choice, Aaron Burr, became vice president.

Q—What is the meaning of the word "caliche" used by President Johnson in his inaugural address?

A—Caliche is an odd kind of earth that is slick as soap when wet, hard as rock when dry, and crumbly while it is damp. It was widely used in the '20s and '30s for road surfacing—excellent in dry weather and slippery during infrequent rains.

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Both psychological and monetary weapons are being readied to ward off any letdown in Americans' confidence that prosperity is here to stay.

Government officials and agencies are now starting a chorus of warnings that people mustn't expect too much. They seek to prevent nervousness if the big upsurge in the early months of this year isn't duplicated in the next few months.

Stimulants on Order

At the same time, new monetary stimulants for the economy are on order for this fall. One is the cut in excise taxes which Congress is pushing through speedily. Another is an increase in Social Security benefits (this fall, just ahead of the rise in Social Security taxes Jan. 1. The new money from the tax cut and the more generous payments to the growing number of retired is counted upon to boost consumer spending.

Government spending is going up, too. Some see more defense outlays in the making. Many of the antipoverty programs are ripe for expansion.

Federal debt is due for another rise. It is now $316 billion but the Treasury says it will be $326 billion a year from now. Wall Street regards that as inflationary, however Washington may view it. Stock market observers say prices went up as a result of the Treasury's request that the debt limit be raised.

Business plans for expansion spending are revised upward steadily.

All these should help to insulate public confidence from any shock if there's a downturn this summer in economic statistics, or any slowdown in the rate of growth.

Stress is laid on the signs that 1965 as a whole is going to be a prosperous year, even if the rate of growth varies from quarter to quarter, as it usually does in any year.

Government agencies also are stressing that the big spurt ahead in the first quarter of 1965 was both unexpected and due in part to unusual circumstances. Always cited are the catch-up in auto sales after shortages due to last fall's strikes, and the build-up in steel inventories as a hedge against a possible strike in that key industry.

But even if some letdown develops in both industries, auto makers and steel producers alike are still expecting 1965's production and sales to set new highs for any one year.

A year ago government and private economists were worried lest there be a turndown in the economy in the last half of 1965. Now few indeed expect that. What they're talking about now is further growth, but a less breathless one.

Weekly Food Review

Food shoppers will do well this weekend to keep a sharper watch than usual for bargains. Markets are faced with sharply higher wholesale prices for beef, pork and several important fresh vegetables.

There are indications that there may be meat "specials" which are no cheaper than in recent weeks, mainly because the wholesale prices have been rising.

Steaks, chops, ground beef and hot dogs should be likely candidates for bargain price tags. The supply squeeze, however, may put a crimp in some stores' desire to feature them.

Egg prices are drifting back up to normal levels for this time of year.

Broiler chickens are more abundant than last year, but prices at retail seem to be holding firm in most sections.

Vegetables are running 15 per cent higher than last spring in most areas. Lettuce, cabbage, strawberries make a good buy in some areas, compared to past years, and pineapples reportedly are a good buy.

Airstrips Only Lifeline

Diem Hideaway Now Viet Training Camp

By HAL BOYLE

KHAM DUC, Viet Nam (AP) — Men in power often like to have a hideaway from the world where, in a proper setting, they can brood on their greatness.

The late President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam had plans for a summer palace here 43 miles southwest of Da Nang.

A site was cleared atop one of the peaks that tower up to 6,000 feet in wild and lonely green beauty. As there are no good roads, everything had to be flown in.

Mute Memorial

At a cost of $4 million to $5 million, an airstrip was built on a 1,600-foot-high plateau. Construction was begun on the foundations for the palace. Then Diem was killed during a political coup, and his unfinished palace hideaway now stands as a mute memorial to his vanished dream.

On the plateau now is a training camp for civilian irregular defense groups, quasi-soldier volunteers whose job is to protect isolated villages from Viet Cong raids.

TV Reviews, Best Bets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — David Susskind, whose principal occupation is producing programs for network television, is convinced that the dramatic anthology series soon will return to popularity.

"Television moves in cycles, and we have now completed the life cycle of the social-significance shows," he observed. "In fact, we overdid it as usual, with too many series determined to hit the audiences over the head with dramas hammering at current problems."

These "social-significance" series, of course, included Susskind's own "East Side, West Side," and such programs as "The Defenders," "For the People," and "Slattery's People." All except "Slattery's People" will have disappeared by September, and "Slattery's People," about a politician, has never been exactly a star in the Nielsen ratings. CBS obviously believes it has other sterling qualities and gave it a second season in which to prove itself.

"We've got a pretty good set-up here," said Lt. Niel Davidson, 24, Chicago, member of

"Right now it is apparent that audiences want relaxation and escape, probably because they have enough serious problems in their own lives and are living out personal dramas," Susskind continued. "That seems obvious in the success of movies like 'Goldfinger,' and 'Mary Poppins'."

Arthur Godfrey, who recently played a limited engagement at a Broadway show, now will try his hand at movies. He'll play Doris Day's father in a film to be produced in Hollywood.

a small U.S. Army Special Forces team which helps train the Vietnamese and Montangard tribesmen volunteers.

"It's pretty much like garrison life anywhere except when we go out on operations against the Viet Cong. But I'll say one thing — these are the most miserable mountains and Godawful jungles anyone on a patrol ever saw."

Seem Vulnerable

Davidson could be forgiven a bit of homesickness. He was married only three months ago, and a month later had to leave his bride to come to this isolated outpost in a strange land.

To an outsider these lonely circles of security in an enemy sea seem terribly vulnerable to mass attacks. The airstrips are their only lifeline to the outside world.

"We could be overrun," acknowledged the unworried lieutenant, "but they'd have to spend an awful lot of people to do it — more people than they can afford."

"After all, this place is pretty well defended with prepared positions, concrete bunkers and miles of barbed wire and mine fields."

Aside from the guerrillas, the mountains and plateaus abound in many forms of wild game, including elephants and tigers. None of the Americans here has had a chance to go hunting of them, however.

Two Will End Area Ambulance Service July 1

Discontinuance of two Ulster County ambulance services as of July 1, has been announced by Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson and George J. Moylan of Rosendale.

As of July 1 the Humiston Ambulance Service of Kerhonkson and the George J. Moylan Ambulance Service of Rosendale will be discontinued and residents of these areas will be served by other means.

The two ambulance services have a combined record of service of over 75 years.

In making the announcement of discontinuance of service Chipp and Moylan said that the service to the communities was "regretfully" being closed down due to economic conditions. They pointed out that due to the rise of cost of personnel and insurance, the operation of the services had become economically prohibitive.

The two ambulance services have served the Kerhonkson, Accord, Stone Ridge, Rosendale and Marletown areas for many years but increasing costs now compel them to give up the service.

In the area, Ambulance and Rescue Squad operated by fire companies have taken over much of the emergency service and will continue to serve in that capacity. Other ambulance services will be available in the area.

The condition of Michael Kinkel, 25, of RD 1, Saugerties, who was injured and burned Sunday afternoon in a motorcycle-car mishap on Route 32 and Quarryville Road, was reported as "critical to fair" at Albany Medical Center today. Hope for Future

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Norman Topping, president of the University of Southern California, sees hope for the future in student protests of the current decade.

He told an audience Wednesday that such students may be "better citizens in the long run" than their goldfish-swallowing, panty-raiding predecessors.

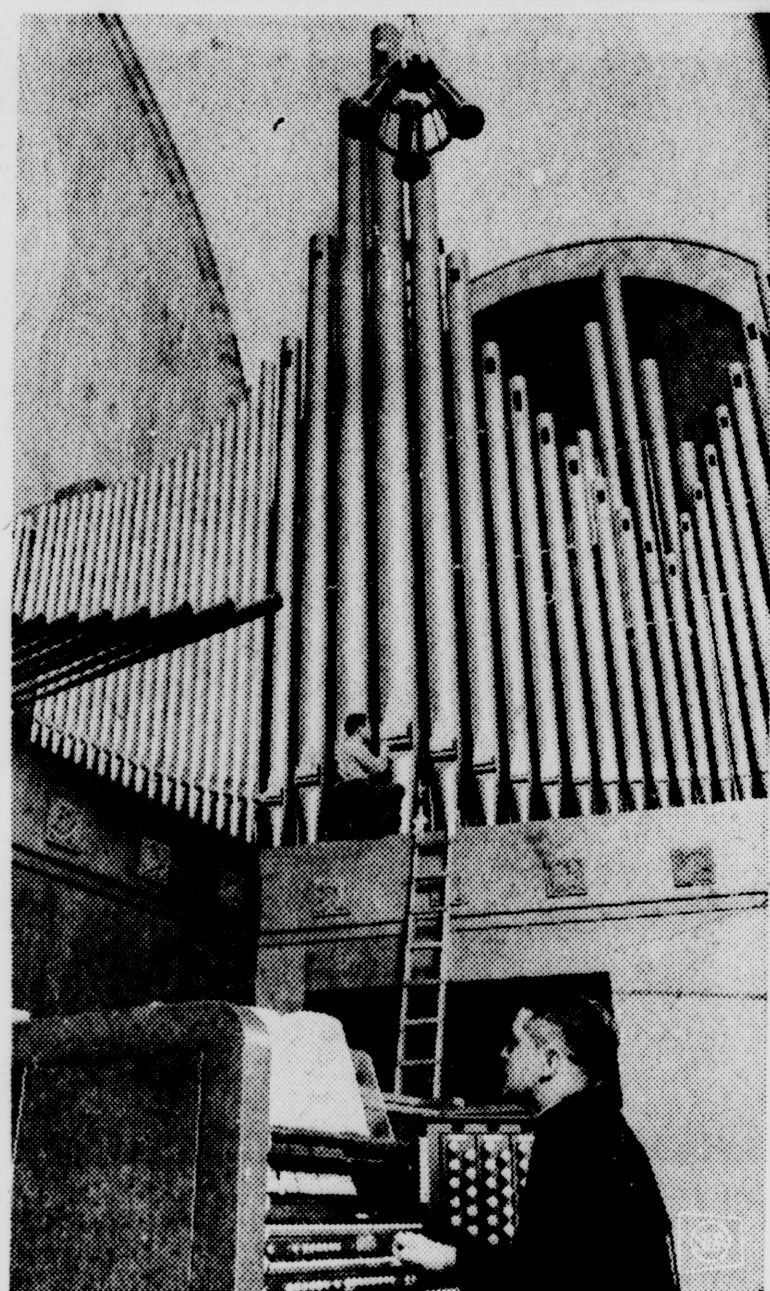

Beetles (Texas) Cause Crashes On Slick Roads

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A blanket of black beetles, which turned the pavement icky under the wheels of cars, caused several multicausal accidents on an expressway Wednesday night but no injuries.

Police closed a three-mile stretch of the expressway because of the concentration of the inch-long beetles. Sand was spread over the pavement.

Police said the beetles, which appear mostly at night, have probably been forced out of hibernating areas by recent heavy rains in the area.

The South American hoatzin is peculiar in that it has eyelashes, a great rarity in birds.

POWERFUL PIPES—Towering high above the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C., this giant pipe organ dwarfs installer Roy James and an organist. The organ is a gift to the shrine from Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, and the organization of Catholic Chaplains and Military Personnel. It's one of the largest organs ever constructed by the Moller Organ Works of Hagerstown, Md.

Tuesday Is Aim For Opening of Oneonta Museum

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP)—Mayor Albert S. Nader says next Tuesday is the target date for opening the National Railroad Museum in Oneonta, and if that date is not met the museum still will be opened in early June.

The opening could be pushed back from Tuesday, he said Wednesday, if shipments from the Portland, Ore., Railroad Museum have not all arrived by then. Portland museum officials had voted to move their material to Oneonta.

While Oneonta residents were financing the museum here, Nader acknowledged that a proposed federal appropriation of $50,000 "would be helpful."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., has authored a bill to provide the appropriation and recognition from the federal government that the museum would be the only official National Railroad museum.

The chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission has said the commission would endorse the museum here if it "is deemed by Congress to be an appropriate memorial."

The museum will be in the former Ulster and Delaware building.

Traffic Slowed On Autobahn

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP) — Autobahn traffic through the East German border to Berlin was slowed this morning, West German customs officials reported.

It was not clear whether the slowdown was because of road repairs, German holiday traffic or as a protest by the East German Communist regime against the presence of West German politicians in West Berlin for the visit of Queen Elizabeth II.

A border official said cars were backed up nearly half a mile at the Helmstedt checkpoint. Border officials in Berlin reported no slowdown and said traffic was moving normally. But they said traffic was heavier than normal due to the Ascension Day holiday.

Excise Tax Saving Going to Customers

Montgomery Ward today pledged to pass on to customers any excise tax savings that may be enacted by Congress.

On major merchandise items, the excise tax saving credit will be granted to all customers who make purchases between now and July 1.

Charles Levengood, local Montgomery Ward store manager, said:

"Montgomery Ward policy is to pass excise tax savings on to customers. Effective at once, buyers of refrigerators, room air conditioners, freezers, dryers, ranges, stereos and television sets are to be assured they will receive a credit or refund in the amount of any excise tax savings which might be enacted between now and July 1."

Levengood said that government officials, including congressmen and senators, have been advised of the company's action. He also stated that Ward officials are urging Congress to repeal the excises as soon as possible and to enlarge the number of items subject to the retroactive effective date to give the buying public maximum benefit from the proposed legislation.

Wards fall and winter catalog, now being printed for distribution to millions of customers during June and July, include a pledge to pass on any excise tax savings to the customer.

Harlan to Hear Dem Arguments Delaying Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan hears arguments today on a request that he stay a federal court order calling for election of the New York State Legislature on Nov. 2 under a Republican-sponsored plan.

Harlan is scheduled to hear lawyers for each side on a request filed by Simon H. Rifkind, a former federal judge representing Democratic legislative leaders in New York.

The Democratic group contends that a lower court order would create "a state of unprecedented political chaos in New York." The Democrats want Harlan to delay the effectiveness of the ruling until formal appeal can be filed with the Supreme Court.

A three-judge federal court in New York City ordered the Nov. 2 election under provisions of what is known as Republican redistricting Plan A. It was passed by a GOP-controlled Legislature before Democrats took control last January.

Under the plan, much of the voting power now seated in Upstate New York would be shifted to cities and their suburbs. It would only be in effect until the newly elected legislature could come up with a permanent reapportionment plan to go into effect with the November 1966 election.

Launch Set Friday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An Interplanetary Monitoring Platform IMP-3 is scheduled for launching Friday to make scientific space investigations and study radiation hazards along the astronauts' route to the moon.

A Delta rocket is to hurl the payload skyward in a favorable launching period between 6:30 a.m. and 8 a.m. It is to zip into an elliptical orbit ranging out to 130,000 miles.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said IMP-3, like two predecessors, is to measure magnetic fields, cosmic rays and solar winds.

Seven shots are planned in the IMP program. Two of the payloads are to orbit the moon.

SCIENTIFIC SUN—Looking like the tail section of a proud peacock, an artificial sun shines brightly as an engineer checks its power with a globelike device. A seven-foot tall bank of 433 lights and reflectors, arranged to produce a 72-inch circle of light, the artificial sun is as nearly like sunlight as is possible. It's used in research concerned with landing a man on the moon, at Boeing's Seattle laboratory.

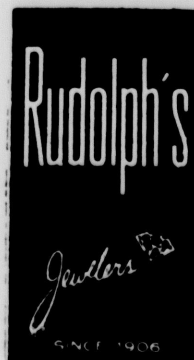

Purpose for Others

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Space research and exploration is providing purpose for the next generation, the director of Cornell University's Radiophysics and Space Research Center said Wednesday.

Dr. Thomas Gold spoke to about 1,000 persons during the first day of the Fifth National Conference on Peaceful Uses of Space. The conference ends Friday.

Dr. Gold said research and exploration is a "noble outlet for the curiosity and restlessness of the human spirit." He predicted current research will be "common schoolboy knowledge" in the future.

Pick Up Garbage

Sisters Making Money, Losing Weight on Job

SARANAC, Mich. (AP) — Two Michigan housewives have found an unexpected reward in a new business venture. They're not only making money with their garbage truck, they're losing weight.

Iva Bennett, 30, and her sister, Dorothy Chase, 42, have been operating a garbage and rubbish pickup service in this southwest Michigan town of 1,100 since last fall.

When they started Mrs. Chase weighed 176 pounds.

"Now I'm down to 159 and Iva went from 185 in September to 175 now," said Mrs. Chase.

Three years ago Mrs. Chase and her husband, Harold, took over Charles Miller's refuse route while he was hospitalized.

"We told him that if the time ever came when he wanted to get rid of it, we'd take it," says Mrs. Chase. The time came.

The project includes yardwork, hauling sand and gravel, moving, housecleaning — or what have you.

The sisters' original truck was a 1949 model. When it started acting its age, Mrs. Chase overhauled the motor with an assist from her husband, who is a mechanic.

"He gave me a new truck for Christmas," she says.

The garbage route is the sisters' project, but Chase has volunteered for heavy lifting. Bennett is tied up with his job at a grain elevator.

In their work week, which recently has become a seven-day schedule, the sisters put about 40 miles per day on the truck. Mrs. Chase, a resident of Ionia, travels an extra 18-mile round trip daily between home and work.

The sisters average hauling three loads a day to the Saranac dump. They charge a flat fee, but extra work may mean extra pay.

"I kind of like the work," said Mrs. Bennett. "It gives me a chance to get outside."

Accredited colleges and universities east of the Mississippi River number twice as many as those to the west.

Little Rainfall

Ice-covered Antarctica is a waterless land, with annual precipitation on its vast interior plateau being only four inches, and just two more than that of California's Death Valley. Potential water of the continent, which is equal to all the world's rivers and lakes, is locked in snow and ice.

Students Make Trip To Lachmann Bakery

The Ungraded Classes of Main Street School visited Lachmann's Bakery May 14. The group was accompanied by the teachers of the classes, Mrs. Annie Anderson and Mrs. Grace Snyder.

The children had the opportunity of seeing many machines used in the process of baking. Mr. Lachmann demonstrated to the children how an ordinary cake becomes a beautiful, tasty birthday cake with beautiful flowers and greeting.

The children were interested in seeing the revolving ovens, various machines which press, roll and cut the dough into many pieces.

After having observed how jelly gets into the doughnut, the children were treated to these doughnuts which they had observed being filled with the jelly and rolled in fine sugar.

The trip was very enjoyable and worthwhile.

The classes and teachers have extended their appreciation to Mr. Lachmann for his cooperation in this project.

Ashes to Be Strewn

BOLTON LANDING, N.Y. (AP)—The ashes of sculptor David Smith will be strewn on the fields near here where many of his massive metal creations stand.

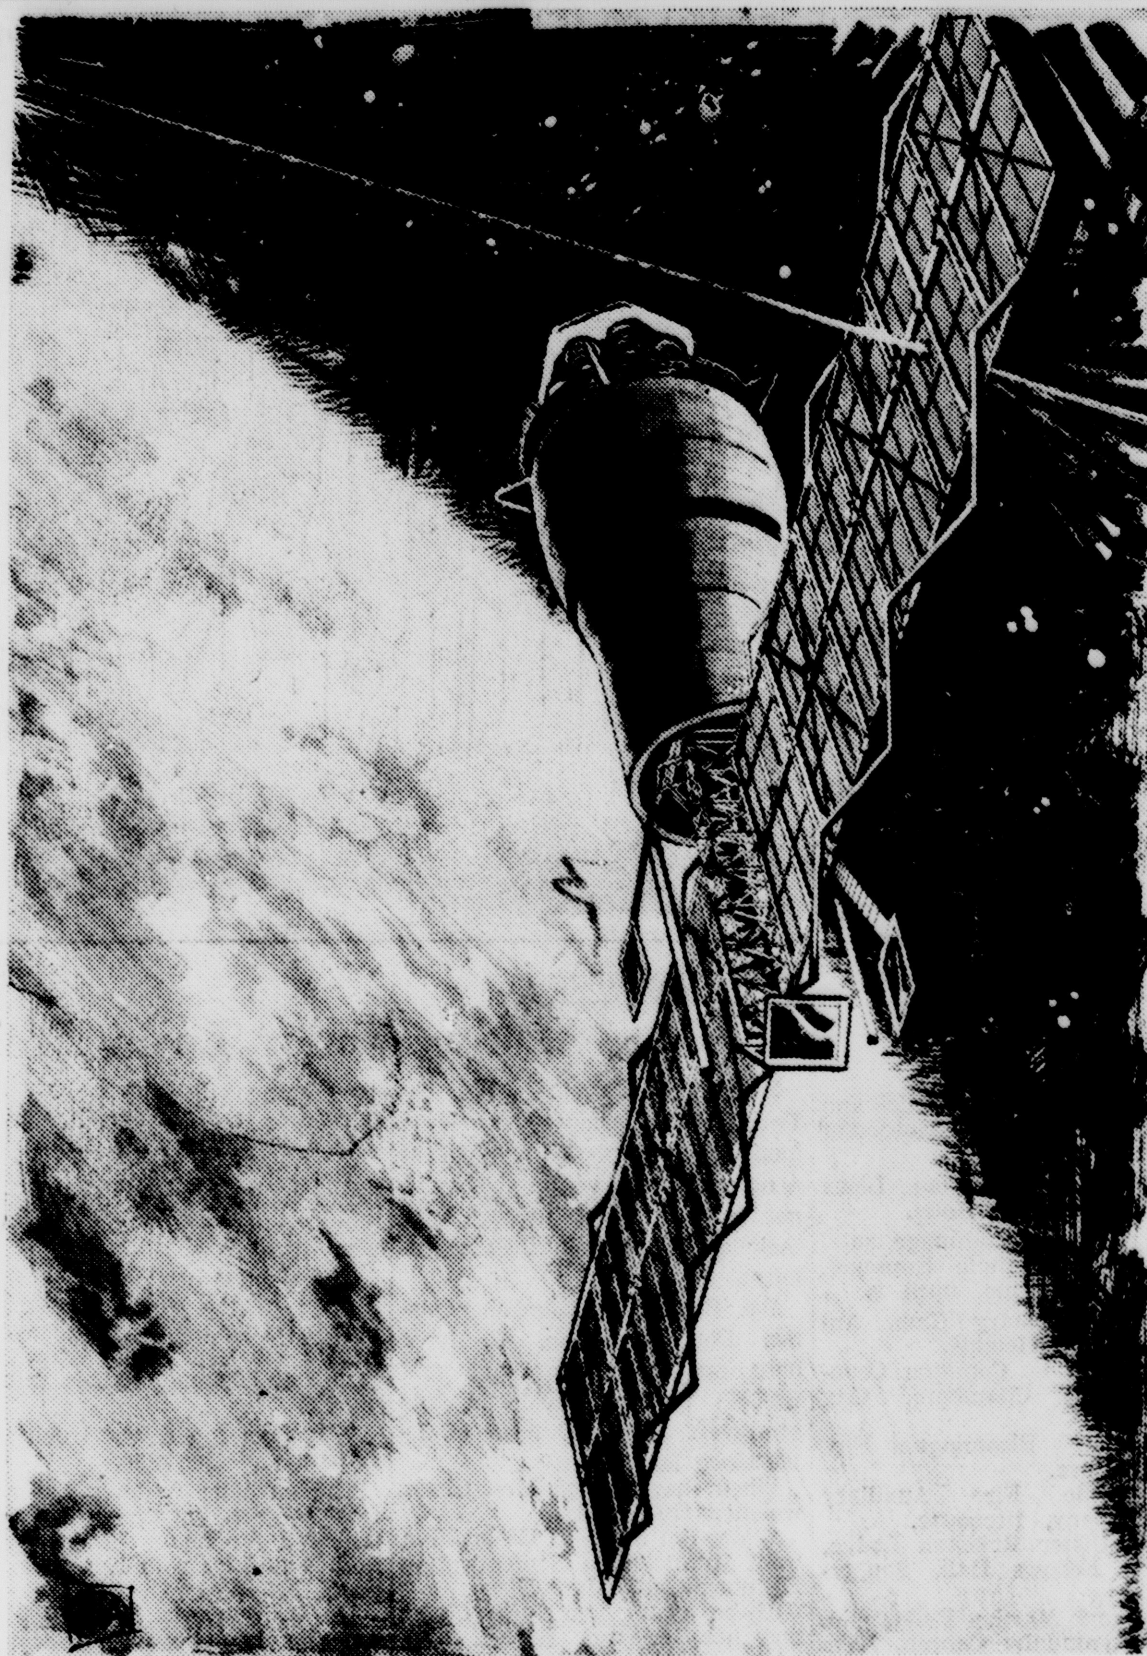

Smith, 58, lived in the Adirondack hills near this community beside Lake George. He was injured fatally Sunday in an automobile accident near Bennington in neighboring Vermont. He had delivered a lecture at Bennington College.

More than 300 persons attended a service in a lakeside park here Wednesday.

Smith was a member of President Johnson's National Council on the Arts.

HAT IN RING—Rep. John V. Lindsay (R-NY) has announced that he'll run against Mayor Robert Wagner in 1965 mayoralty election in normally Democratic New York City.

PEGASUS II SPREADS ITS WINGS—The largest instrumented satellite ever developed by National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the second Pegasus satellite is shown in artist's drawing with its meteoroid-catching "wings" deployed. The panels—96 feet long and 14 feet wide—record the impacts of space dust particles and radio the data to earth. Information about the meteoroid hazard is vitally needed as larger, longer-lived spacecraft come off the drawing boards. Pegasus II is expected to stay in orbit three years or more and be visible with the naked eye from earth. Total weight of the satellite is 23,100 pounds—3,200 for Pegasus and 19,900 pounds for the 90-foot-long top section of the Saturn launch rocket, which will remain attached.

Several County Fires Reported

Fire Control headquarters on Golden Hill reports a number of fires in various parts of the county during the past 24 hours.

At noon Wednesday Spring Lake firemen were called out for woods fire off Linderman Avenue Extension. Assistance was requested from Bloomington firemen. After fighting a stubborn blaze the firemen left, only to be called back at 4:34 p. m. and again at 5:28 p. m. The fire broke out again at 7:40 p. m. and the Spring Lake firemen were again alerted.

Wallkill firemen were summoned for a fire at 2:14 p. m. and Esopus firemen were summoned for a woods fire at 5:23 p. m. Forest rangers were also summoned to assist.

At 2:38 p. m. Wednesday Marlboro firemen were called out for a fire at the Harbor Light premises and at 9:28 p. m. Saugerties firemen were summoned for a car fire.

Bear Cubs Roam In Buffalo, on Way to Game Farm

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Police said a bear hunt was in progress on the city's east side today.

Two 15-pound baby bear cubs have been roaming the area near downtown since their escape late Wednesday night from wooden crates at the Curtis Street Railway Express Agency terminal.

Police said they were not dangerous.

The cubs were on the terminal dock Wednesday night to board a train and continue their journey from the Unique Zoo at Sutton, Ont., Canada, to Catskill Game Farm, Catskill, N.Y., an express agency official said.

Marks Nehru Death

NEW DELHI (AP)—India marked the first anniversary today of Jawaharlal Nehru's death with pre-dawn mourning ceremonies and fear for the future. There remain many problems and the "unspeakable poverty of the Indian masses," the national newspaper The Statesman said in an editorial.

Bloomington Driver Pays $175 in Fines

Raymond G. Mikesch, 17, of Bloomington, paid a total of $175 in fines before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie of the Town of Esopus Wednesday after he had been picked up by Trooper Wallace Maynan of the Highland sub-station after a high speed chase.

Highland troopers were requested by Constable Joseph Ferrera of Town of Esopus to assist in apprehending Mikesch. Trooper Maynan charged Mikesch with reckless driving and Constable Ferrera lodged charges of driving an unregistered vehicle, being an unlicensed operator and having no insurance.

Dominican Situation Is in State of Political Fog

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fog has settled over the Dominican Republic where the Johnson administration has tried to end the revolution and so far has failed.

First, this brief background on a country which lived 31 years under a dictator and now has two "presidents":

From 1930 until his assassination in 1961 Gen. Rafael Trujillo was absolute dictator while those around him got rich in a land of poverty. There were, of course, no real political parties.

4-Year Struggle

After his death the Dominicans struggled through four governments and then, in a free election, chose Juan Bosch president. He lasted seven months until he was thrown out in 1963 by the military which scrapped the constitution and set up a five-man junta.

Although the United States recognized this junta, it lacked mass support and was heaved out in the revolution which began April 24. The military, defying the rebels, quickly set up another junta.

Skipping over the intervening weeks, this is the picture now.

There are two warring factions, the five-man civilian-military junta headed by Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera as "president" and the rebels headed by Col. Francisco Caamaño Domo as "president."

On April 28 President Johnson sent in Marines. At first he said they were there to save American lives; later he said they were there to prevent a takeover by Communists who, he explained, controlled the revolution.

No Solution

Then on the weekend of May 15 he sent in his special adviser, McGeorge Bundy, a former Harvard dean, as his trouble-shooter. Bundy returned to Washington Wednesday after 10 days in the Dominican Republic. He hadn't solved anything.

What he tried to do was get both sides to agree to a coalition government. To do this, the United States wanted the two leaders, Imbert and Caamaño, to step down. But Imbert refused. This was a blow to Bundy and Johnson.

The United States had not only supported the Imbert junta — some say it was created at U.S. suggestion — but two weeks ago was considering recognizing it as the government.

But Imbert reportedly lacked mass support and a week ago U.S. policy shifted support away from Imbert, urging that he and Caamaño both step aside.

Caamaño may have undergone a change, too. In the past he had said he would step down but Wednesday he told newsmen no agreement had been reached on forming a coalition although, he said, his talks with Bundy had helped chances for a solution.

When Bundy came home he left the task of working out an agreement with both sides to Dr. Jose Mora, secretary-general of the Organization of American States.

Meanwhile, the OAS had voted 14 to 4 to send in a Latin-American peacekeeping force with troops from five countries, about 2,000 in all. As they move in the United States will withdraw about 1,700 of its 21,000 troops.

First Agreement

The U.S. ambassador to the OAS, Ellsworth Bunker, seems to see great things in store for the idea of an OAS peacekeeping force. This was the first time Latin-American countries had ever agreed to anything like this.

He called it a "historic action," hoped it would become a precedent for a permanent hemisphere peacekeeping force. But there's a good chance it won't and for several reasons.

Not all Latin-American countries are happy with the U.S. intervention in this case and all of them, along with the United States, 17 years ago agreed in the OAS charter that no state or group of states has a right to intervene in any American state's internal problems for any reason.

Contrary to Agreement

When Johnson sent in the Marines he was going contrary to this agreement signed by the United States, but the OAS by sending in the peacekeeping force was also acting contrary to its own charter.

And now the Johnson administration is beginning to soft-pedal the idea that the Communists, as Johnson said May 2, control the revolution and even seems to be making its own double-check on its information about the Reds.

The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency has the job of checking on things like Communists in other countries and Johnson presumably relied on CIA information when he talked of Red control in the Dominican Republic.

But now the White House has in effect acknowledged the FBI is in there checking, too.

Victoria, Africa's largest lake, is the source of the Nile River.

As Far as GOP Senators Go—

Not Much Political Hay In Support of Vote Bill

By JACK BELL

AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Influential Republicans agreed today there isn't much political hay in the overwhelming support Republican senators gave the voting-rights bill.

But the fact that 30 of the 32 GOP senators voted for passage Wednesday as the bill cleared the Senate should help get the party back in the mainstream of civil rights, said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

"It gives us the opportunity to appeal again to civil rights supporters," he said. "It identifies ours as a responsible political party instead of the radical, states-rights party it was represented to be in the 1964 campaign."

"It gets us back to where we were in the pre-Goldwater period."

Can't See GOP Gain

However, Javits agreed with fellow Republican Sens. George D. Aiken of Vermont and John G. Tower of Texas, who said in separate interviews they do not believe Republican support of the legislation will win Negro voters away from the Democrats.

Aiken, senior Republican in Senate service, said he doesn't believe Republican backing for the bill will get much attention from the voters or will yield any material political benefits.

"Our Madison Avenue division is not very strong and what we do doesn't get advertised effectively," Aiken said. "I don't think our support of the bill is going to make any difference politically, one way or the other."

Explains His Vote

Tower, one of two Republicans who voted against the measure — the other was Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina — said he would have supported it if the Senate had not rejected an amendment he offered to bring the bill more in line with a substitute that House Republicans are backing. Instead of being aimed at specific Southern states, the substitute would provide for federal registrars when 25 persons in a state or county complained of racial discrimination.

"By voting as they did, the Republicans showed that they wanted some kind of bill," Tower said. "But I think the political effect will be negligible because this will be known as a Democratic administration bill."

Reports Striking Deer

Robert Dawson, 57, of Mohonk Lake, while driving his car west along Route 52 a half mile east of Greenfield Park at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday, struck a deer. The deer was killed, Dawson escaped injury but his car was damaged. State police from the Ellenville station investigated.

FREEWHEELING, U.S. STYLE—Top Newschart above shows the continuing increase in the number of automotive vehicles in the United States. Auto ownership has increased faster than the population, with registrations more than doubling since 1940. By 1980 cars will number 100 million and other vehicles 20 million. Miles these vehicles have traveled in urban areas (lower chart) more than doubled between 1940 and 1960 and are expected to double again by 1980. Data from Committee on Economic Development.

Not Clear on Expected Veto

Governor Rockefeller Angers Party on Abolition of Death Penalty

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has angered fellow Republicans and other backers of a bill that would abolish most capital punishment in New York State.

Privately, they express resentment that the governor has criticized the bi-partisan bill, now before him, without offering any alternative proposals or taking any leadership on the issue.

Suggest Guidance
The governor is believed to be getting ready to veto the bill, but it is not clear why.

On some occasions, he has indicated a view that the measure would extend too much leniency to killers. On others, he has seemed to be criticizing the fact the bill does not call for total abolition.

The measure would retain the death penalty in cases in which a law-enforcement officer was slain in the line of duty or a life convict killed in prison or during an escape.

Supporters of the bill maintain that the governor should have provided some guidance if he favored an abolition bill, rather than sitting on the sidelines and criticizing the efforts of others.

The key arguments of those favoring abolition are that the state has no right to take a human life and that the death penalty has not been proved a deterrent to murder.

But legislation for total abolition stood little chance of ever coming to a vote in the Legislature.

The exceptions were put in as a compromise, and this won over Sen. Thomas Duffy, D-Queens, chairman of the Senate Codes Committee, in one of the key developments in the movement of the bill.

It had been doubtful up to that point whether Duffy would let the bill out of committee.

Not Happy With Exceptions
The exceptions also won over support of many legislators who would have voted against an outright abolition.

Not all the backers of the bill were happy with the exceptions but considered the compromise version better than no bill at all.

Thus, the supporters have been annoyed that the governor has seized upon the exceptions as a major failing of the bill.

By making exceptions, he has argued on several occasions, the bill recognizes that the state does have the right to take life and it recognizes the death penalty as a deterrent to murder.

"What are we accomplishing?" the governor asked recently of the bill.

There have been reports at the capital that behind-the-scenes activity produced the surprisingly narrow vote of 78-67 when the Assembly gave final legislative approval to the capital punishment bill.

It was said the governor's office let it be known to Republicans that he believed he would have more flexibility on the bill if the Assembly vote were close. The argument that there was an overwhelming legislative mandate for the measure thus was removed. The Senate had passed it 49-7.

'Peelers'

London's "Peelers" are British policemen, also often called "bobbies." Both nicknames come from the name of the founder of the modern London police force, Sir Robert Peel.

Charge Connecticut Man With Leaving Scene

A Danbury, Conn., man was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Trooper Harry Foster of the Highland station and charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and operating an unregistered vehicle. He will have a hearing this evening before Justice of the Peace Patrick Mataraza of Marlboro.

Raymond Kouhout, 48, of Danbury, Conn., all day struck the car of Louis Nannini, 38, of Marlboro as Nannini was making a left turn to Western Avenue in the village at 6 p. m. Wednesday. The Kouhout car was traveling south on 9-W at the time. No one was injured but the vehicle of Nannini was damaged. Kouhout failed to stop OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Police and Coast Guardsmen continued searching today for the body of Charles Paternoster, 8, who fell into the east side of Oswego Harbor Wednesday night.

Police said that Charles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Paternoster of Oswego, had gone to the harbor area with a companion.

Funds Available For Gypsy Moth Control in County

Funds have been made available to the New York State Conservation Department to continue the spray program for gypsy moth control, throughout Ulster County.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R), Ulster, today announced that he has just received word that funds will be made available to the Conservation Department to carry out this work.

Appropriation Restored
It had previously been announced that only a part of the county would be covered.

Assemblyman Wilson said that when the budget was passed in Albany earlier this year the Democratic majority had sliced a $25,000 appropriation from the budget for the spray in Ulster County. Both Assemblyman Wilson and Senator E. Ogden Bush (R), immediately requested that these funds be restored in the State's supplemental budget, as the program was one that was vital to the county. Both pointed out to the Governor, the Conservation Department, the State Director of the Budget and the majority leaders of the legislature that the gypsy moth has caused a great deal of damage in the county, and unless the spray program were continued the damage would be even worse this year.

Through efforts of the local legislators the majority leaders agreed to restore the funds in the supplemental budget, but since the budget would not be approved until after the period of maximum infestation of the gypsy moth, both Assemblyman Wilson and Senator Bush urged that the Governor request the Legislature to take immediate action by transferring the required $25,000 to the Conservation Department within the next few days.

Will Continue Spraying
Governor Rockefeller acted immediately upon this request and sent a letter to Senator Joseph Zaretski and Speaker Anthony Travia, pointing out that an emergency situation existed in Ulster County and that the state could not sit idly by while the gypsy moths destroyed vast areas in the county. Because of the urgency of the matter Governor Rockefeller asked that existing funds be used at once to continue the spraying program, and that the $25,000 appropriation be restored.

Wilson said he had been notified that the funds would be made available at once and that the spraying program would be continued throughout the county.

Carpenters Meet With Contractors Again June 10th

No agreement was arrived at Wednesday at a meeting of contractors and representatives of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters.

It was agreed, however, that negotiations would be continued for a limited time and that there would be no strike called by the union or lockout by the contractors without giving three working days notice of such action.

The next meeting for discussion of the situation will be next Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.
It is probable that there will be no strike called by the union at least until after the next meeting of the Council which will be held on June 10. At that time action may be taken by the Council in regard to future action in the existing situation. The present contract expires May 31.

The contractors, allegedly, are discussing an eight-hour day with a one year contract while the union is calling for a seven-hour day with a five-year contract.

Five contractor associations are involved and nine counties are included in the negotiations. They are Ulster, Greene, Columbia, Orange, Sullivan, Delaware, Chenango, Otsego and Schoharie.

NYC Firm Lets Low Bid for SUC Construction

A New York City construction firm submitted the low bid for construction of railings around glass entrances and alterations to the Fine Arts Buildings at the State University College, New Paltz, it was announced today.

J. Burch McMorran, superintendent of the New York State Department of Public Works, said that the Alsids Construction Company of New York, submitted a low bid of $3,240 for the work. He said it was among low bids totaling $1,165,194 on three projects for construction, repairs and alterations to state-owned facilities opened Wednesday by the department in Albany. A total of 34 bids were received on the projects included in the letting. The Alsids company bid at SUC was among three bids submitted for that project.

Rescue Is Made Of Woman In Wednesday Fire

Mrs. Thomas Doyle, an invalid of 61 Pine Grove Avenue, was carried from the two-story frame building at that address housing the Doyle home and store after a fire was discovered in the basement Wednesday afternoon.

Firemen said the blaze started in a rear basement corner, ignited cardboard, and heat from it melted plastic caps on 12 cans of pressurized insect repellent releasing their contents.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations answered a call at 1:18 p. m. with Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Glyn M. Southard in charge.

Mrs. Doyle was carried from the building by Capt. Harry Sills and Fireman Louis Varga.

Origin of the blaze was undetermined. It was doused with pressurized water.

A call at 1:17 p. m. was for a brush fire off Glen Street. Units from Wiltwyck station, the Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteers responded.

The advisory follows: A few severe thunderstorms with damaging winds and hail and possibly a tornado this afternoon from 2 p. m. until 8 p. m. Turning considerably cooler by Friday morning with partial clearing in the afternoon. High this afternoon, in the 80s or low 90s. Low tonight, in the 50s and low 60s. High Friday in the 60s and low 70s. Winds, southwest to 10-25 this afternoon and early tonight, becoming westerly 15-30 by Friday. Brief gusty winds of 50 mph or more in some thunderstorms.

School System Sick: Rust

New Teacher Federation Leader Would Put Stress On Present and Future

The newly-elected president of the Kingston Teachers' Federation described the Kingston Consolidated School District today as a "sick system."

Howard Rust, social studies teacher at Myron J. Michael Junior High School, said further that, "What's worse is there is little happening today which is likely to make it a healthier system. It appears," he said, "that the school district is 'getting sicker.'"

Rust heads a newly-elected slate that includes Vernon Outwater Jr., Lake Katrine Elementary, vice president; Emma Lou Brummitt, J. Watson Bailey Jr. High, secretary; Raymond Monfetti, John F. Kennedy Elementary, treasurer, and Philip Furnari, Vocational Building, financial secretary.

Rust succeeds Donald J. Sweeney of JWB.

In a prepared statement, Rust told the Freeman: "I believe it is time for us to put less emphasis on the past and consider the present and the future. Where those who guide the future of education should now act with realism one finds anachronism. Where there should be experimentation, there is only exasperation (witness the teacher enduring clerical chores instead of educating clever children). Crowded classes and a confused curricula policy are more likely to bring chastisement rather than challenge to students in Kingston. And what of the public? Where one might hope to find the public at least apprehensive, there is but apathy. This sick system is becoming the custodian of the past rather than the custodian of the future."

"Can nothing be done about all this? I think much can. Certainly no one person or group has all the answers. It seems reasonable to me that when someone is sick, those who are likely to know the most about the causes of the illness should have a hand in separating symptoms from causes in preparing the remedies. It seems reasonable to me that the teachers in our public schools are the ones who are best acquainted with its problems. Paradoxically, perhaps, we teachers are at present part of the problem. We would rather be part of the solution. The dangerously low morale of the teachers (only one of the symptoms of a disease from which the school system suffers) can be raised tremendously."

Suggestions Made
"When the Board of Education finally agrees that the teachers should have a collective bargaining election; when the teachers choose a group to meet regularly with the board and help to identify and ameliorate the problems of the schools; then, and only then will there be a chance for the patient to improve. No, it's not a panacea, but it is at least a chance. It's the best chance I know of at present for the future. The students, the teachers and the community deserve no less."

Outwater, a Port Jervis native, is head teacher at the Lake Katrine school. Also a SUC, New Paltz graduate, he resides in West Hurley with his wife and three children.

Miss Brummitt, a native of Hays, Kansas, is a member of the physical education department. Monfetti, a fifth grade teacher in the Operation Able Program, resides in Port Ewen with his wife and four children. He is active in Little League, Boy Scouts and recreation activities in the Town of Esopus. Furnari, an auto mechanic, teacher, studied at Oswego State and New York University. He resides with his family on Brewster Street in Kingston.

Rust said that the Kingston Teachers' Federation, Local 781 of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, "is committed to improving educational conditions in Kingston to the benefit of student, teacher and community alike through meaningful communication with the Board of Education and a realization of the professional worth and abilities of the classroom teacher," under the past leadership of Sweeney, he said, the KTF "emerged fully as a militant group interested in improving educational conditions in the district."

Copters, Troops

Cong and wounded 20. The Sommers suffered one casualty in the strike, Seaman Jimmy C. Sumner of Carletonville, Va., was killed when the muzzle end of a 5-inch gun on the destroyer exploded.

A U.S. military spokesman said the plane shot down was one of several Crusaders flying support for eight A4 Skyhawks raiding a railroad yard at Vinh, midway between the Communist capital of Hanoi and the North Vietnamese border.

Other pilots said they saw the disabled Crusader plunge into the target area and that the pilot failed to eject.

Radio Hanoi announced that a U.S. plane had been shot down over Vinh, but it gave no word on the fate of the pilot. Radio Hanoi claimed another American pilot, Navy Lt. Philip Neil Butler of Blackwell, Okla., was captured near Vinh after his plane was shot down on the night of April 20. The broadcast said Butler was being treated well.

Groundfire Heavy
Today was the second day in succession U.S. planes had hit Vinh, a major North Vietnamese port and naval base, and pilots said groundfire was heavy.

The two Americans killed Wednesday were special forces advisers accompanying units sent to relieve Vietnamese troops who had been ambushed by guerrillas.

In Wellington, New Zealand, Prime Minister Keith Holyoake announced his government has offered to send a four-run artillery battery of 120 mm to South Viet Nam to fight with the 1,000-man Australian infantry battalion which left Sydney Wednesday for South Viet Nam.

The New Zealanders are expected to leave in a few days by plane. The Australian battalion is traveling by sea.

7th Witness Not Talking in Probe Of Chicago Reds

CHICAGO (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities ran into a strategy of silence by witnesses again today.

Versta Miller, a Chicago Negro who had been subpoenaed, refused to testify. He was the seventh consecutive witness to decline to answer questions by the committee counsel, Alfred Nittle.

Still Keeps Silent
Nittle asked Miller whether he was a member of the Communist party. When Miller refused to answer, citing the 5th and other amendments to the Constitution, Nittle said, "It's the committee's information you have been a member of the Communist party in the Chicago area at least since March 1944. How could this injure you if you testified it is not true?"

The witness still refused to answer.

Last Day
This was the third and last day of the Chicago hearings on Communist activity in Illinois. In a stormy session Wednesday, witnesses refused to answer questions and 12 demonstrators were ejected from the hearing chamber.

The committee heard a second witness testify of being a Communist party member while spying for the FBI.

Eight Held on $100
Federal marshals charged the persons ejected from the hearing room with impeding a committee of Congress in exercise of its proper process of investigation. Eight were released on $100 bond and the others were held in jail.

One witness, Milton Cohen, walked out. A committee member said he will urge the full committee to charge Cohen with contempt.

Cohen was one of six persons named by a witness as being active in the Communist party.

Some 60 pickets paraded outside watched by 100 policemen. There were no incidents.

With Swastikas
The pickets included three men in military uniforms with arm bands bearing the Nazi swastika. They carried placards reading "Communism is treason" and "God bless HUAC."

On the witness stand, Lucious Armstrong, 65, a Negro and retired steel mill hand, told the committee that he joined the Communist party in 1931, left in 1934, rejoined it in 1937, left it again in 1948, and rejoined in 1953 at the request of the FBI.

Similar Story
He told a story similar to one related by Miss Lola Bell Holmes, a Negro, who testified Tuesday that she spied for the FBI while a party member. Armstrong and Miss Holmes are from Chicago.

Asked by Alfred Nittle, committee counsel, if the Communist party in the United States reflects Soviet policy, Armstrong said, "I don't reflect anything but a bunch of ignorance." Armstrong and Miss Holmes testified that Lewis Diskin, David Englestein, Cohen, Ben Friedlander, Charles Wilson and Wilberforce Cox Jones had been active in the Communist party. All have been subpoenaed.

The six invoked the 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 9th, 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th amendments.

Zaretski Will Move to Abolish Boxing in State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretski said today he would bring a bill to abolish professional boxing in the state to a vote on the Senate floor but "I don't think I can pass it."

The Legislature went into the question of boxing in detail three years ago, following the death of Benny (Kid) Pareit of injuries he suffered in the defense of his welterweight title in New York City March 1962.

A joint legislative committee was created to look into the sport and recommended unanimously that it be allowed to continue in New York. The Legislature accepted the committee's recommendations.

Legislative interest was revived because of widespread complaints about the controversial Tuesday night fight in which heavyweight champion Cassius Clay knocked out challenger Sonny Liston in the 11th round of a title fight in Lewiston, Me.

Zaretski, who saw the fight on closed-circuit television in an Albany theatre, said it was "a fake."

Economic Growth Will Slow Down, Says U. S. Chief

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — The chief White House economist indicated today that business gains in the rest of 1965 will be only about half as great as in the booming first quarter.

Gardner Ackley also told businessmen that a widening ripple of price increases has become disturbing to the President's Council of Economic Advisers, of which he is chairman.

He spoke at the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association meeting here.

The prospective slowdown in the economic growth rate removes the threat of any serious inflationary overheating of the economy in the year ahead, Ackley said, so the prospect of continuing price stability is good. But he added:

"The number of announcements of price increases seems to be accelerating.

"In the past few weeks, for instance, the list has included tires, stainless steel products, sulfuric acid, trucks, paper containers, polyethylene resins, aluminum products, copper, and fabricated copper products.

Many were no doubt justified by higher costs and others may be rescinded because of stiff competition, Ackley said, "yet there is just enough movement of prices to be disturbing.

"Surely none of us would welcome moving toward fiscal and monetary policies that restrict economic expansion, so long as resources remain in ample supply, simply as a means of holding prices in check.

"Yet the time may come when pressures to do just that will become very strong.

Slackened auto output and a slowdown of inventory buying by industry are major reasons for expecting slower business growth in coming months, Ackley said.

Set Equalization For Saugerties, Denning, Lloyd

ALBANY — Final state equalization rates based on 1964 assessment rolls have been established for three more Ulster County townships, Saugerties, Lloyd and Denning, it was announced by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment today.

Saugerties was given a rate of 14, one less than last year; Lloyd 20, one less than last year, and Denning 14, the same as last year.

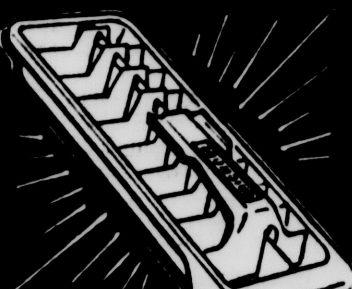

Final rates for towns previously announced included Gardner 13, Hardenburgh 31, Hurley 23, Marlborough 23, Marlboro 20, New Paltz 14, Plattekill 7, Rochester 28, Rosendale 12, Shandaken 30, Ulster 15, Wapping 17 and Woodstock 12.

The rates are the ratio between the assessed value of local real property and its actual, or full, value as determined by the state. If a locality's state equalization rate is 50, its assessed valuation represents one-half, or 50 per cent of its full valuation of real property. When the market values rise in a community but assessment do not, the rates drop.

Sower and Soil

CHICAGO (AP)—People who say they don't go to church because the sermons are poor may be pointing to a failure in themselves, the Rev. Webb Garrison, an Evansville, Ind., Methodist pastor, writes in the church magazine, Christian Advocate. "Listeners who go away empty-handed reveal themselves as barren soil," he says.

Hollywood News, Views

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—

Rock Hudson continues his escape from the bedroom farces. His next film will be "Seconds," which he describes as a horror picture. But not the Vincent Price variety, it should be added; this one will stress psychological horror. It is being directed by John Frankenheimer, the young suspense master who made "The Manchurian Candidate" and "Seven Days in May."

Harlow Toughest: Carroll Carroll Baker wasn't too exhausted after finishing "Harlow" to toss a wing-ding party at her house. Between dances she commented that the film was the toughest she has tackled. And not only because of the virus that kept her out of the picture for two weeks.

Seek Applicants For USAF Flight Training Program

Sergeant Robert A. Milling, local United States Air Force Recruiter, has announced that applicants are being sought for the Air Force Flight Training Program.

Basic qualifications for application require that a young man be a college graduate with any academic major (or be within 210 days of receiving his Bachelor's Degree), between the ages of 20½ and 26½, have normal color vision, and minimum vision correctable to 20/20 with glasses. Marriage with a family is not a disqualifying factor.

The program consists of three months Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, to earn a commission as a second lieutenant.

Upon completion of OTS, the flight trainee is sent to pilot training for 53 weeks, or navigator school for 48 weeks to earn the silver wings of a rated Air Force officer. Starting salary for a flight training officer is nearly $6,000 per year. And after only two years of service, the young officer's salary will be approximately $8,000 per year.

Further information is available from the Air Force Recruiting office, 597 Broadway, Kingston.

Card Counting Wins for Sims

In his prime, the late P. Hal Sims stood three inches over six feet and weighed 350 pounds. He stood even taller among bridge players and in the late twenties was unquestionably the best auction bridge player in the world.

He carried this supremacy over into the first days of contract, but refused to concede that scientific bidding was necessary.

His jump to seven no-trump was typical of his slam bidding but the contract was a good one. He had 12 top tricks and could make the 13th easily if spades broke three-three. Failing that he

Fonda Reunion

There will be a Fonda reunion on the sands of Malibu this summer. Jane has a house at the beach while she's shooting "The Chase." When papa Henry finishes "Battle of the Bulge" in Spain, he'll take a house a few doors away that Jane rented for him. He'll bring his 10-year-old daughter, whom Jane hasn't seen in two years. Also, son Peter and his family will be nearby.

Gene Kelly hopes to direct a new "Beau Geste" as his next film; he has done spectacular musicals but never a real spectacle. The project is now in the hands of the Universal bigwigs, who are deciding whether to make the $6 million outlay.

"I want to do it right or not at all," said Gene. "That means shooting it in the Sahara with thousands of Arabs."

An "Annie Oakley," meaning a free ticket, comes from the famous markswoman's amazing ability as a shooter. During her theatrical performances and her act with Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, she shot holes through small cards tossed into the air. The hole customarily punched in a complimentary ticket recalls these bullet holes.

could still fall back on a finesse for the king of hearts. If you look at all the cards, you will see that West holds the singleton king of hearts and that spades don't break. It looks like a case of one peep being worth a lot more than two fives but Hal plucked that king just as easily as if he had looked in his opponent's hand.

It was all a matter of counting. He started by noting that West held exactly two spades. Next came the parade of diamonds and when West showed out on the third diamond lead, Hal had counted exactly 12 of his cards and knew that the other one was a heart.

On the last diamond lead East had to discard down to one heart in order to hang on to the jack of spades. Hal discarded his deuce of spades and the ace and queen of hearts without caring about the location of the king.

CORE to Check On Alleged Race Bias in 5 Cities

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) — James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), declared Wednesday night that steps would be taken this summer against alleged racial discrimination in Albany, Utica, Binghamton and Syracuse. He said CORE had mapped campaigns to combat what he called discrimination in housing and employment practices and de facto segregation in the four cities. Farmer would not explain what he meant by CORE "activities" in the cities, but he said he did not necessarily mean there would be demonstrations. Action was necessary, he said, only when negotiations failed. The civil rights leader commented at a news conference before he spoke on the civil rights movement to about 750 Hartwick

College students. Farmer expressed dissatisfaction with the voting rights legislation approved by the U.S. Senate Wednesday. To have any real effect, he said, the measure would have to be strengthened in the House.

Final Look at Changes

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania's Senate Committee on Constitutional Revision is scheduled to take a final look next week on the Scranton administration's 13 bill package of proposed constitutional amendments.

Sen. Jack E. McGregor, committee chairman, said he believed the committee would vote to release the amendments to the floor next Thursday.

The principal amendments are proposals which would permit governors to succeed themselves for one term and do away with the state's $1 million debt limit.

HURLEY LIONS CLUB—Sand-casting and some of the early history behind the art was the subject of the speaker at Hurley Lions Club dinner, Williams Lake, Wednesday. Emil Tschudin (left) who has a pattern machine and aluminum foundry at Poughkeepsie told of the evolution of the process going back to 4,000 B.C. With him are Russell D. Cole, president of the Lions and Jerome Tangen, candidate for governor of District 20-0. (Van Allen photo)

Appeals to Review Seven Convictions

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals has decided to review seven convictions in cases involving the question of whether a person under arrest is entitled to be told before arraignment that he has a right to remain silent and to have counsel.

The Appeals Court for the second circuit — which covers New York State, Connecticut and Vermont — announced Wednesday that its entire nine-judge bench will conduct the reviews.

The announcement underscored the importance the court attaches to the issue. Three-judge panels normally hear cases.

The cases include two convictions for murder, one for spying, and four separate convictions on narcotics charges.

One of the murder cases to be reviewed involves Floyd E. Martin, convicted of the 1946 slaying of Raymond E. Plyter in Wayne County, N.Y. Police produced a confession by Martin that he shot and killed Plyter, a friend and boarder in his home. Martin was convicted and sentenced to death. Thomas E. Dewey, then governor, commuted the sentence to life imprisonment in 1947.

The bronze statue known as the Colossus of Rhodes was a representation of Helios, the Greek sun god.

Sand-Casting Is Subject of Talk To Hurley Lions

At the weekly dinner of Hurley Lions Club, Wednesday, at Williams Lake, the subject was on the fundamentals of sand casting and some of the early history behind the art.

Guest speaker was Emil Tschudin, owner of the Emil Tschudin & Son pattern machine shop and aluminum foundry in Poughkeepsie.

In prehistoric days, he said, man probably banked his fire with copper bearing rocks and obtained melted copper the next morning. 4,000 B.C. marked the evolution of sand casting, he said.

It was at that time that the first casting was formed from an internal mold. At the same time the Chinese began the use of wax for castings called the lost-wax castings. According to the speaker the Chinese were very adept at casting.

The Phoenicians later became the makers of the finest sand castings in the world, according to Mr. Tschudin. They cast the columns of King Solomon's Temple and also a 15-foot diameter swimming pool.

The Colossus of Rhodes was cast a little later and was about half the size of the Statue of Liberty, the Lions were told.

The art of sand casting died out until about 500 A.D. Bell casting was the chief work and it is found difficult today to improve on some of the old castings of that day.

In closing Mr. Tschudin spoke of Paul Revere who ran a copper and brass works and was also an iron foundryman.

At the same time the Tea Act was instituted, England ruled that no more casting could be made in America, the speaker said. The metal had to be shipped to England for use of that country, because the foundrymen were helping in the plan for the Revolutionary War.

Paul Revere cast the bell in the Old North Church and it is a sad fact that the Liberty Bell at Philadelphia was made in England and not America, the Lions were told.

Jerome Tangen of Port Jervis Lions Club spoke briefly on his candidacy for the office of governor of District 20-0.

Laborites in Squeaker

LONDON (AP)—Britain's embattled Labor government escaped defeat in the House of Commons early today by only one vote.

When all members are present, the Laborites have a three-vote margin. But a number of members were absent for the session Wednesday night.

Throughout the night the government won a series of votes on clauses in its omnibus finance bill by razor-edge margins. Finally the margin dropped to one vote — 153-152 — and Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan moved for adjournment of the session.

Death Rate Actually Dips

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's death toll from accidents in the first three months this year killed 24,700 persons, an increase of 300—or 1 per cent—over the same period last year, the National Safety Council reported today.

However, because of a population increase, the council said, the death rate from accidents actually dropped from 56.4 to 54.7 per 100,000 persons, a 3 per cent decrease.

Dear Abby . . .

"Guts," And Brains, Too!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married for over 20 years to a self-made man who has had very little education. He is doing very well financially. Our sons are of college age, and my husband refuses to encourage them to get a higher education. He says all you need to get along is guts. I don't agree. Do you?

VAN NUYS
DEAR VAN: No, But if "guts" are a factor, an educated man with guts has a much better chance of succeeding than a man with guts alone.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married three and one-half months and I love married life. My husband and I get along fine except for one thing. He doesn't want me to wear a girdle. So far it hasn't bothered me because most of my clothes can be worn without one. But with summer coming on, I'll be wearing last summer's clothes and they all have straight skirts. I can't wear a straight skirt without a girdle. My husband says I don't need a girdle, but I feel sloppy without one. When I wear a girdle, my husband doesn't talk to me for a day. I love my husband and want to please him, but this has me stumped. I don't know why he is so against girdles.

GIRDLE TROUBLE
DEAR TROUBLE: Tell your husband that you FEEL better in a girdle and, furthermore, he can wear what he wants to under his clothes, and you'll do the same. Stay FIRM on that. (Maybe he was fascinated by a bowl of gelatin when he was a baby.)

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with a father kissing his son? Our son is almost eight years old and I can't remember ever seeing his father kiss him. My husband says, "Men don't kiss boys—it's effeminate." It's heartbreaking to see our little four-year-old daughter getting hugs and kisses from her Daddy, while the little boy watches with tears in his eyes. The boy is a fine, well-behaved child. He idolizes his father, but the resentment he is building up toward his sister because of all the affection her father lavishes on her is terrible. Please tell me, Abby, do you think it is so wrong for a father to kiss his son?

A MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: No. Some fathers (particularly Europeans) kiss sons and daughters alike, which is normal and acceptable in my book. Only men who aren't absolutely sure of their own masculinity go overboard trying to prove it.

DEAR ABBY: Last month my girl friend's brother-in-law died. I met him four years ago and didn't even know his last name. (He was my girl friend's sister's husband.) I didn't think it necessary to send any condolences because I really didn't know him that well.

Well, for about three weeks after that my girl friend was very cool to me. She never called. I was always calling her. Then she finally told me that she was very hurt because I didn't tell her the truth I didn't even think of it. I've talked to different people about this and they all said he was only a brother-in-law and they wouldn't have sent condolences, either. I would like to know your feelings on this.

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Your oversight was understandable and your friend is being childish. Apologize but be on guard for her next regression.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Disagreement Is Threat to Move On Disability

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disagreement between the House and Senate is threatening to block a proposed constitutional amendment to cover presidential disability.

The hitch to a compromise agreement is a provision in the House bill to limit the time Congress has to decide the issue when the vice president contests the right of a once-disabled president to resume office.

The House version says Congress must decide within 10 days automatically. The Senate bill sets no time limit.

The House provision was frankly aimed at the Senate, with its tradition of unlimited debate. Advocates of the amendment fear a Senate filibuster could keep a president from office.

Two conferences between Senate and House joint committees have failed to settle the issue. When the second one broke up Wednesday, no date was set for a third meeting. Participants said feelings on both sides were strong.

The Senate reportedly agreed to accept a 21-day limit for congressional action, but the House rejected it, arguing the nation could not afford such an interruption in the exercise of presidential power.

Aside from that difference, the House and Senate amendments are nearly identical. The Senate amendment passed 72 to 0 in February and the House voted 367 to 29 in favor of its version six weeks ago.

The amendments are intended to ensure against any break in the exercise of the powers and duties of the presidency. Besides providing for a vice president to take over the duties of a disabled president, they would have a vacancy in the vice presidency filled by presidential appointment.

Funeral for Reporter

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Funeral services for Howard R. Merritt, a retired Syracuse newspaperman, will be held in nearby Marcellus Saturday.

Merritt died Wednesday at his home in Marcellus after a long illness.

He was a reporter for the old Syracuse Journal for 17 years and for the Post-Standard for 21 years before he retired in 1960. Merritt also worked on papers in Binghamton and Auburn. He was born in Elmira.

Atmosphere Is Aerosol

Aerosol means a system of finely subdivided liquid or solid particles dispersed in and surrounded by a gas. The earth's atmosphere is an aerosol, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Australia and New Zealand (including Tasmania) produce almost one-half the world's wool and herd more sheep than any other continent.

$60,684 Utility Refund

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. has demonstrated to its financial pain that it's willing to take a second look at a bill and correct a mistake.

A PG&E refund draft for $60,684.32 was handed over Wednesday to the happy customer, the San Francisco Port Authority, which operates San Francisco Harbor.

The utility said it recently discovered it installed a too-fast meter nine years ago at the port's ferry building.

Hudson Firemen
Fight $100,000
Blaze Wednesday

Hudson firemen battled a $100,000 fire Wednesday afternoon at the Greenport branch of Textile-By-Products Corporation of Hudson.

The blaze of undetermined origin was confined to the press area of the plant but stockpiles of material sustained heavy smoke and water damage. The plant is located off Route 66, a half mile north of the Hudson city line. Because of the highly inflammable textile products in the building aid was sought from Hudson, lower Greenport and Stottville. Five of Hudson's six fire companies responded. There were 12 pieces of apparatus at the scene and some 200 volunteers. Choking smoke from

New Constables
For Rosendale

William Ayers and Edward Schmidt have been appointed constables in the Town of Rosendale Constabulary, it was reported today. They succeed John Kinstry and Anderson Ellsworth, who resigned.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Town Board said that the board was "deeply concerned" with the growing problem of refuse and garbage dumping "which endangers the health of the residents of the township and defaces the scenery along the highways of the town." The spokesman said that, "In the best interests of all the citizens of the town, the board is invoking the anti-dumping ordinance and has instructed the Rosendale Constabulary to apprehend all violators. Such violators may be fined a maximum penalty of $50 for violation of the ordinance."

Drive Falls Short

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Southern Baptist "30,000 movement"—aimed at establishing that many new congregations and missions over a nine-year period—has come to a close, with the final figure showing 24,917 new preaching places started—about 5,000 short of the goal.

MOON DUNE BUGGY—Described by one observer as a "12-hour cold tablet pulling two aspirins," this is a model of a proposed MOLAB (mobile lunar laboratory). Designed by Boeing Co., the life-size MOLAB would be 10 feet tall and 25 feet long and could take two men on a 14-day, 250-mile excursion over the moon's surface. Each of its six wheels would be independently driven by an electric motor powered by a hydrogen/oxygen fuel cell, enabling it to climb seven-foot vertical walls and cross eight-foot crevasses. Weighing about three tons on earth, the MOLAB would weigh only about 1,000 pounds after being rocketed to the moon—possibly in the early 1970s. A full-size wooden mock-up is currently undergoing tests.

G-U Sees Banner Year

PARAMUS, N. J.—Thomas C. Butler, president of the 519-store Grand Union Company, the nation's 10th largest food chain, told stockholders today he was confident that 1965 would be "another banner year." "Fiscal 1964 was, emphatically, Grand Union's best year to date," Butler said in his talk at the company's annual meeting in the auditorium of the Garden State Plaza Shopping Center here. Sales were an all-time high in 1964: 740-million dollars; up nearly 73-million dollars, or 10.9 per cent, from 1963. Net earnings set a new record of 9½ million dollars; a gain of 2½ million dollars, or 36 per cent. "We expect 1965 to be an even better year for Grand Union than 1964," said Butler.

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A young policeman's first lesson in operating a motorcycle was a costly one—to his pride and his automobile.

Now made with pure liquid vegetable shortening.

Why?

Pure liquid vegetable shortening is low in saturated fats. It doesn't do a thing to improve the softness, freshness, or flavor of MILLBROOK® Miracle-Mix Bread (which, of course, can't be improved). But it does make the creamy texture of MILLBROOK Miracle-Mix Bread even more uniform (no mean feat). Now there's only one thing left you can do to better realize the flavor of delicious MILLBROOK Bread. Enjoy it.

Second Arrest Is Made on Gambling In Ellenville

A second arrest was made Wednesday in the Ellenville area as the result of an extensive gambling investigation which has been underway in that area for some time by Ellenville police, state police and BCI men.

Arrested was Henry Marcos Santiago, 61, an unemployed Ellenville chef. Santiago was charged with operating a policy business in violation of Section 974-A of the Penal Law. Santiago was released on his own recognizance for appearance before Justice Abram D. Smith of Town of Rochester at 7 p. m. on June 21.

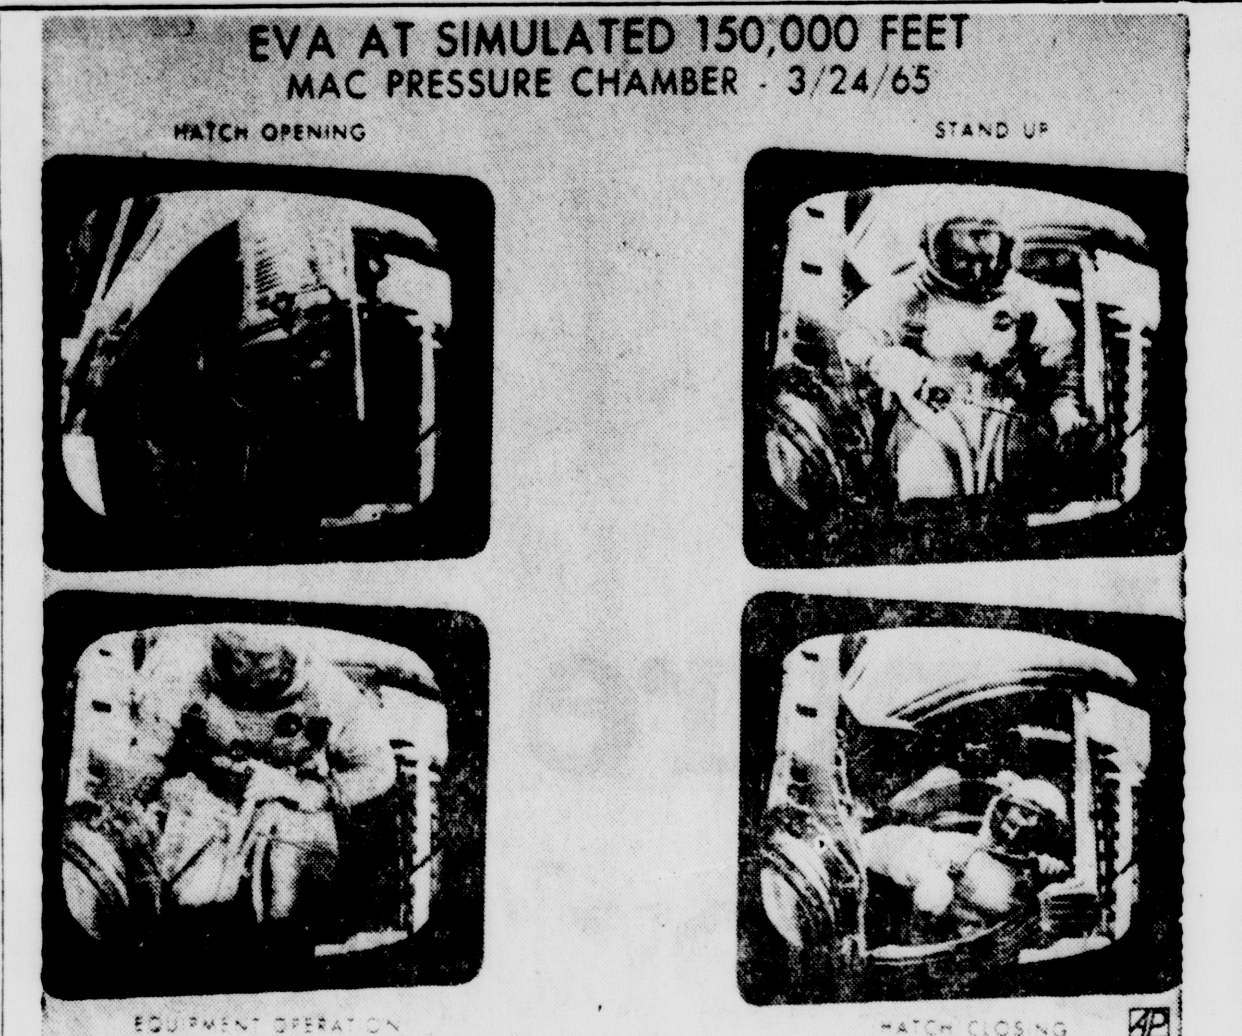

This was the second arrest in recent days in the investigation into gambling activities in the area. The investigation has been underway by Ellenville police and Investigator Charles Teelon, Michael Bonney of the BCI and Trooper Michael Mahoney.

Ernest Adam Rosling, a chicken farmer, was charged with operating a policy business on May 24, and on recommendation of the district attorney's office he paid a $50 under the misdemeanor section of the law.

Class Ode in Chinese

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The Yale senior class ode is going to be in Chinese this year, instead of the traditional Latin or Greek.

Its author is Richard G. Fabian of Dallas, Tex., who majored in Chinese studies. Fabian submitted his poem when he

Moore to Leave Post as Chairman Of SUNY Trustees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Frank C. Moore, chairman of the State University Board of Trustees since the university's formation in 1954, plans to leave the post this summer.

But Moore, 69, says "I have a lot of activities, and I'm planning an additional one."

The former Republican lieutenant governor heads the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, the advisory board of the State Office for Local Government and a commission on state-local fiscal relations. His "new activity" is one he has been putting off and also will be related to governmental affairs, he indicated Wednesday.

Veep Humphrey Turns 54 Today, May Keep Silent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey turns 54 today and in honor of the occasion he may not make a speech.

This in itself, for a man who has been making two or three a day, would set the date apart. But, of course, he may change his mind.

The Humphrey calendar calls for a staff party and attendance by the vice president and Mrs. Humphrey at a White House reception for congressional assistants.

After the reception, President Johnson may have some surprises of his own for the vice president.

Humphrey joked with newsmen at a White House military reception Wednesday night and wouldn't admit he's turning 54.

He told everything else about himself: his shirt size, neck 16½, sleeve 34; height, 5 feet, 11½ inches; waist, 38 inches; shoe 9½. But not his age.

He prefers everyone to think he's 37, even though the records show that he was born 54 years ago — on May 27, 1911, in Wallace, S.D.

Asked how he planned to celebrate his birthday, he said, "by work." And, "I'm going to call up my mother and congratulate her."

Humphrey was in a jovial mood after he stood in the receiving line along with the Johnsons.

The vice president was called on to pose for pictures and someone suggested that he and his wife kiss. Mrs. Humphrey protested with a smile and said: "I don't like kissing."

"Yes, she does," said her husband amid general laughter.

Mrs. Humphrey then corrected her statement to: "I like to kiss, but I don't like kissing pictures."

Just to End Bickering

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Weary of clamoring among rival cities for a new district court of appeal, a committee of the Florida House settled on Yeehaw Junction, an outpost of civilization in the wilds of Okeechobee County.

If the legislature goes along with the committee, a stately courthouse could be added to the two restaurants, filling station and truck stop on the Yeehaw Junction skyline.

But this is unlikely. The committee chairman, Rep. Lawton Chiles, said the bill was voted out Wednesday only to end bickering among West Palm Beach, Vero Beach and Fort Pierce for the court headquarters and allow the decision to be made on the floor.

Mrs. Gresho, 22, and the mother of two, is one of the very few women mail carriers in Cleveland, Ohio. She is versatile as well as attractive. Among her qualifications is the ability to drive a one-ton truck.

Aid on WheelsRed Cross Has Trained Vols for Highway Help

With a traffic toll of 43,000 deaths and 1,600,000 injuries a year in the United States, it's obvious that automobile accidents are common occurrences. As the network of highways spreads out and more people take to the road there are mounting possibilities of emergencies happening where physicians and hospital service are not always readily available. Since accidents often demand immediate action based on sound knowledge to save lives and to protect victims against additional injuries, the situation is serious.

Man First Aid Units

Helping to deal with the problem are trained volunteers manning vehicles designated as Red Cross mobile first aid units. As of June 1964 there were, across the country, 25,000 mobile first aid units—highway police cars, privately owned automobiles, freight trucks—all driven by volunteers who have completed advanced and/or instructor Red Cross first aid courses. Thirty-four of these units are manned by volunteers from the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross. These units can be recognized by the sign on the left rear of the vehicle bearing the Red Cross emblem and the words, "Emergency First Aid—American Red Cross."

Prospective members of Red

Cross mobile units must be at least 21 years of age and must hold a current instructor first aid certificate in Ulster County. Further information regarding entrance requirements and regulations may be obtained at the Ulster County Red Cross Chapter, 308 Clinton Avenue.

The vehicle used as a mobile unit carries at least a 16-unit Red Cross first aid kit, and, when possible, splints, blankets, flashlights and flares. After the Red Cross sign has been attached to the rear of the vehicle, it should be driven only by a qualified member of the mobile unit. When feasible, the first aid kit should contain a director listing the nearest police stations, and physicians and hospitals in the immediate vicinity in order to help obtain medical and hospital services quickly.

Maintains Aid Stations

In addition to its mobile unit program, the Red Cross has 1,810 fixed emergency first aid stations on secondary highways across the nation. The majority of the first aid stations are located in highway police and fire department headquarters and in service stations. Local Red Cross chapters can provide information about requirements for operation of highway emergency first aid stations.

Although the mobile units and emergency stations help, they cannot take care of every accident situation. An uninjured survivor of an accident may be the only person available to help others in serious condition or prevent aggravation of minor injuries. Victims of shock, of massive bleeding, and of stoppage of breath require immediate attention for preservation of life. Everyone should learn how to cope with injuries by enrolling in a Red Cross first aid course. Check with the local Red Cross chapter to determine when first aid training will be available to this vicinity.

The Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Swiss Government

Executive power of the government of Switzerland is vested in a federal council of seven members, for which the president is selected from the membership and serves for one year.

Banks to Observe Holiday, Curtail Weekend Schedule

Public offices, banks and schools will observe Monday, May 31, Memorial Day, by remaining closed. Law enforcement offices will be open as usual.

The Rondout National Bank will remain open with all facilities available until 5 p. m. Friday but will not be open during the evening. The First Federal Savings and Loan Association will close its banking house at 3 p. m. Friday as usual but will keep open the drive-in window until 5 p. m. and

When P. T. Barnum, later of circus fame, was running his famous museum in New York, he discovered that persons were paying admission and staying for hours. The place soon became so crowded each day that others could not get in. Barnum wondered how he could empty the museum without offending its patrons, so that the turnover would be greater. Finally, he hit upon a plan. He had a sign made which he placed over a door leading to an exit into a rear street. It worked, for people soon began to follow the sign to see what new curiosity awaited them. The sign read: TO THE EGRESS.

Alice Stamp, Lawrence Byrne Jr. Take Marriage Vows in Quarryville Church

Miss Alice Frances Stamp of Quarryville, Town of Saugerties, exchanged marriage vows with Lawrence J. Byrne Jr. of Ruby, N. Y. on May 22, 1965 in St. Patrick's Church, Quarryville at 11 a. m. and received the Papal Blessing.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. William J. O'Donnell. Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeney provided traditional wedding music. White gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride, who has been since infancy the foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman W. Stay Sr., Quarryville, was given in marriage by Mr. Stay. She was gown in white organza posed over bridal taffeta. The gown was fashioned with a basque bodice, three quarter length sleeves, bateau neckline out-

LIGHTING A WOMAN'S CIGARETTE

Q: My husband and I recently spent a weekend at a resort hotel. We were seated at a table with two young women (strangers to us). Every time one of the women took out a cigarette, my husband would quickly light it for her. After a while it became annoying and I finally told him that he was making a spectacle by his exaggerated politeness. His reply was that he was only doing what was proper. He said a gentleman always lights a woman's cigarette when she is in his presence. I would like your opinion on this.

A: If you had had any conversation with these young women, his lighting their cigarettes was both polite and proper. But if, on the contrary, you had not spoken to them, your husband should have lighted their cigarettes only if they were obviously looking for a match.

Calling on New Neighbors

Q: Is it still customary for old residents to call on new neighbors, or is this courtesy a thing of the past?

A: Although it is true that in the present day this practice is growing less, it is still proper and courteous for old residents in small country and suburban communities to call on new neighbors to welcome them into the community.

Her Uncle By Marriage

Q: My aunt died a few months ago. I still call her husband "Uncle." I have been told that since he was only a relative by virtue of his marriage to my aunt and she has passed on, he is no longer considered to be my uncle. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: By all means continue to call him "Uncle." Not to do so would surely hurt his feelings and show lack of affection for him.

Russia-China Clash Shakes Beliefs

Businessmen Are Breaking Down Barriers Between East and West

EDITOR'S NOTE—AP Correspondent Preston Grover has completed a tour of most of the East European countries once labeled Soviet satellites. In this report he sums up his findings on how the barriers between these nations and the West are being broken down.

By PRESTON GROVER

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Businessmen from the West today are breaking down barriers between Eastern Europe and the West.

Everywhere they are finding the welcome sign out in a way not dreamed of two or three years ago.

Trade Just One Sign

Increasing East-West trade is only one of the signs of a reviving feeling among East Europeans that they again are a part of the world and not a segregated section of it.

Budaepst is exhibiting its new view by advertising itself as "the center of Europe." That is intended to mean not East Europe but the whole of it. The country is so Western-oriented that visitors are hard put to find any real evidence that they are behind the Iron Curtain.

While such evidence exists, in Hungary and elsewhere, in this city you have to hunt for it. In Budapest are a half-dozen monuments to Russian soldiers who died in the bitter battle to capture the city from the Germans. But the party slogans so ever-present in East Berlin are simply not found here.

You hardly ever see a Russian. One Budapest hotel recently was full of West German, French and English businessmen and a Spanish football team.

Reds Have to Speak German

A small Soviet delegation spent a day or so there—and had to speak German to the hotel employees, who understand hardly a word of Russian. German is the prevailing foreign language here, despite 15 years of compulsory teaching of Russian.

Those are among the outward signs of what appears to be a facing about of East European populations. With the exception of Bulgaria, whose people always had a deep sympathy for fellow Slavs in Russia, all East European states treasure and emphasize Western interests and backgrounds.

Romania has undertaken a "de-Russification" campaign that is almost comic in its thoroughness. The country has abolished compulsory teaching of Russian, suppressed Russian institutions and street names, and is pursuing an independent stance politically and economically.

In Hungary, the people have taken Westernization into their own hands. It is not only Westernization, but a restoration of Hungarian nationalism and national identity so long smothered under Russian authority.

Romania Wide Open
In Czechoslovakia, party leaders have launched the country on an economic decentralization program, the whole atmosphere of which is western, and away from Communist-style authoritarian economy.

Of the lot, East Germany reflects the least "Westward turning." Yet old and young there make it clear they don't intend to become Russianized.

Looking back after a series of tours through most of this Eastern European area, it appears that an American seeking business should head for Romania. It is the most wide open to Western trade. Czechoslovakia is running close.

On the negative side, throughout all East Europe is an atmosphere that can be only described as the doldrums. There is a kind of public apathy that might be traced to political fatigue and political-economic frustration.

Aware of Better Things

Economic difficulties and the Soviet clash of creeds with China have shaken the belief of some in East European Communists that they were on the right track. Now there is doubt, and the party leaders face it a every public meeting. All of them are grimly aware that things are better in the West.

On top of that is a general shortage of investment capital to start new industries and to make the old ones work better.

Is it a moment of opportunity for the West? Manufacturers from West Europe feel so. Every country in East Europe continues about two-thirds of its trade with the Soviet Union and neighboring Communist states, so the thing isn't a pushover. Yet without exception all are seeking to reduce to some extent the Russian grip on them, with Romania outstanding.

Signs of the Western trade invasion are everywhere. The Prague is fitted out with rows and rows of presses, drills and lathes from Italy, France and West Germany, while a British conveyor system carries the assembly line from nuts and bolts to finished automobiles.

Nothing American

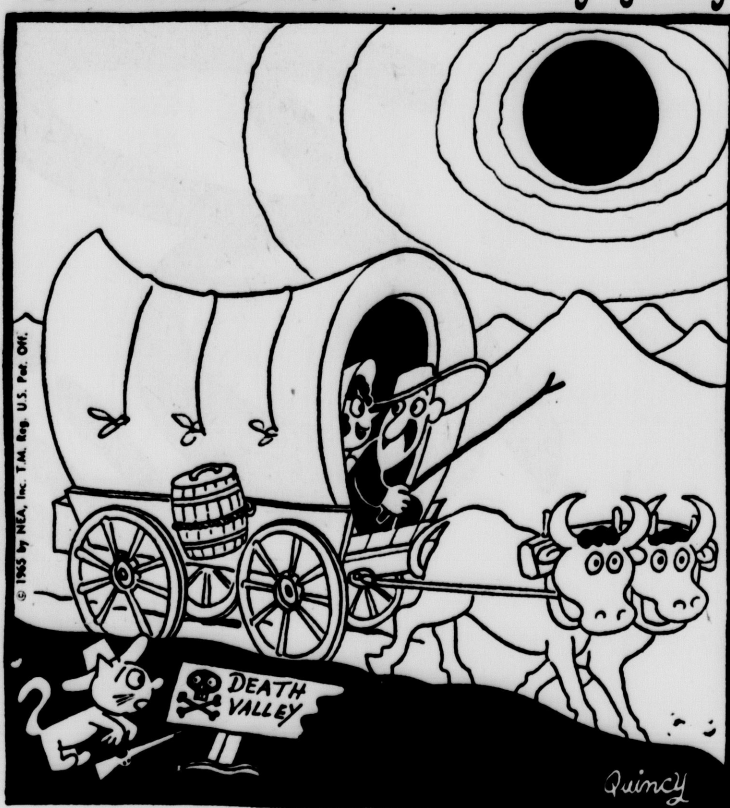

Not a single piece of American machinery was seen in any of dozens of plants visited.

"With a limitation of five-years credit in which to pay for the equipment bought in America, we have almost no time to get it into use before we must complete payment for it," said Stefan Gabor, deputy planning minister in Romania.

"The new American tire and chemical factories just contracted for will take two years to build. That leaves only three years in which to make the plants pay for themselves. We need more time.

Italy, France, West Germany and England offer longer term credit, in some cases, by report, as much as 12 years.

New Policies Not Satisfactory to All Presbyterians

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Whispers of friction trailed today in the wake of the United Presbyterian General Assembly. But it emanated mostly from the sidelines.

Generally, the representative delegates displayed a strong consensus in mapping new church plans and policies, despite eddies of debate.

"Unity in Jesus Christ does not mean uniformity," commented the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief administrator of the church. "We can differ within the fellowship without it being a prelude to schism."

As the denomination's week-long legislative meeting closed Wednesday, however, fireworks came from outside it in a volley of criticism by the Rev. Dr. Edward T. Stimson, of Omaha, Neb., at current denominational trends.

He protested a new confession of faith, given preliminary backing by the assembly, and said it could lead to "loss of our liberties and the introduction of monarchical governmental forms" because it sanctions variety in them.

In an open-air news conference, swollen by bystanders, he said the confession also helps "open the way to church union," and he denounced current union talks going on among six denominations, including United Presbyterians.

"If they succeed, as they well might," he said, "we shall have to leave the church which would no longer be free and Presbyterian-reformed." He said if that "sad day" comes, many hundreds would depart with him.

However, the assembly here overwhelmingly endorsed the progress of the talks, under way for four years.

The new confession, the first restatement of beliefs for English-speaking Presbyterians

Old Paperhanger Not Going After Title in Britain

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — A retired paperhanger says he'll pass up one of the oldest titles in British aristocracy because he "hasn't any money and can't swim."

Newton D'Arcy Wyvill, 69, expressed little surprise when told that Debrett's, Britain's directory of the aristocracy, indicated he is the rightful owner of the country's 10th most senior baronetcy.

"To me it don't mean a thing," the small camera-shy Wyvill said. "We've known the title was over there. If there were a few million dollars attached to it, I'd be very happy. Outside of that, no."

"Naturally I'm very proud," he said. It wouldn't be worth the time and expense to pursue claim to the title because I don't think there's any money over there," he said.

Debrett's, in its latest edition Wednesday, said that Wyvill is a descendant of Sir Richard Wyvill. Sir Richard was slain at the Battle of Towton Field in 1461 during the Wars of the Roses.

Sir Marmaduke Wyvill of Constance Burto, Yorkshire, was the last recognized baronet of the Wyvill family. Debrett's said. He died in 1774, survived by a cousin whose father emigrated to America during the reign of George II.

Wyvill said his grandfather and his father were interested in the title, but his grandfather died before he could travel to England and his father "was just about like me. He didn't have any money and he couldn't swim."

Wyvill said he hadn't given much thought to how it would feel to be a baronet. "I don't know," he said. "I never did have anyone wait on me. I've done all my work myself."

He could call himself Sir Newton if he proved his right to the title.

Wyvill said he had conflicting information on whether any property is involved in the baronetcy. Wyvill said he's content to enjoy his retirement here with his wife. He offered to sell the title to a reporter for $1.

Changed Conflict

NEW YORK (AP) — "Old positions of science versus religion... are no longer the real oppositions," writes American psychologist James Hill, director of studies of the Jung Institute in Zurich, Switzerland. The new opposition, the real one in this generation, is between the soul and all that would butcher or purchase it," he adds in a new book, "Suicide and the Soul." (Harper & Row).

Shutout Added To Leaf Arsenal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A new weapon has been added to Toronto's arsenal — the shutout.

The International League leaders collected their first shutout of the season Tuesday night as left-hander Bill Spanwick held Syracuse to just four hits until leaving in the eighth. Bob Duliba completed the blanking for Toronto's 3-0 victory over the Chiefs.

Tony Horton's eighth home run was enough to give the Maple Leafs their winning margin, but Jim Gosger added a triple and two singles while scoring twice.

Elsewhere, Jacksonville defeated Atlanta 6-1. Columbus downed Toledo 4-2, and Rochester broke a seven-game losing streak by thumping Buffalo 7-1.

Two Rochester right-handers, Chuck Estrada and Herm Starrette, held Buffalo to four hits as the Red Wings broke out of a slump. Marv Breeding drove home three runs with a pair of singles and Joe Altobelli added his third homer and a single.

Michael's Rips Anton by 14-3

Michael's Barbershop cushioned a four-run lead with seven final-inning tallies to post a solid 14-3 win over Anton's Restaurant in the Saugerties Softball Association loop.

The Michaels' John Nolan and shortstop Wright slammed home runs. Joe Benjamin Jr. ripped three doubles in five appearances at bat for the winners while team mates Iannone and W. C. Lindsay also stroked two baggers. Lindsay rapped three-for-five. France poked three-for-four while Iannone also stroked a single in four appearances.

Joe Benjamin Sr. rapped a double and single in three trips for the losers while team mate Campbell collected two hits in three appearances.

The Mikes hammered out five runs in the top of the first and added two more in the second before giving up the lone three tallies to Anton's in the fourth. The seven-run seventh sewed the game up as the home team Anton's couldn't produce in the final frame.

Sonja was credited with the win while La Haye took the loss. The box score:

$20,230 Tinner At Monticello

MONTICELLO — Big twin doubles continued to connect at Monticello Raceway when last night's wheel of fortune returned $20,230. One unidentified fan in the crowd of 3,503 held the only ticket on the 6-1-1-2 combination.

A large payoff seemed quite possible at the outset of the twin events. Keystone Sallie took the fifth at $11.20 and when Francis R. came right back at $11 in the sixth the cheese became more binding.

Timekeeper won the 7th race to set up a $30.40 mutual and Topaz Sue ($5.40) completed the big twin.

The featured fifth race was won by Keystone Sallie in 2:08.3. Driven by Carl Ernst, Keystone Sallie came from last horse at the three-eighths pole to register by two lengths over Mercury Don, Greg MacDonald up, and F. S. G. Harold Story driving.

Owned by W. G. and E. W. Mulligan, Kingston, Pa., Keystone Sallie is a five-year-old daughter of Keystone-Queen Barella. This was her 1965 debut.

She was $11.20, 5.50 and 5.30. Tonight's daily double paid $43.40 when the 3-2 combination came up. Harold Miller won the first with Shooter and then Ronny Ingrassia took the second behind Gil Primrose.

The Tigers overcame a two-run deficit in the final frame to edge the Red Sox, 5-4 in a Hurley LL contest.

The Sox had a 4-2 lead going into the bottom of the sixth when Mike Scully pitched a double after a single by Jim Levin and a walk to tie up the ball game. Scully went to third on an error and scored on a wild pitch by losing hurler Bill Yeaple.

Tim Whalen and Scully slammed doubles for the winners while Yeaple rapped a two-bagger for the Sox. Mark Jennings rapped three hits in four trips to the plate and Mike O'Hara collected two hits in three appearances for the losers.

Yeaple struck out 11 Tigers in taking the loss while winning pitcher Scott Smith held the Sox without a run in a three-inning stint.

The winners pushed across one run in the top of the third and added six more in the fourth. They added three more in the fifth, while it was going, eggs all the way for the losers.

Craig Murray had a perfect day with three hits in three trips to the plate for the winners, including a home run. Teammate Bob Darling also clouted a round tripper.

Williams fanned seven batters in taking the win while Dave Scholter was credited with the loss.

The losers' Roy Renaud slammed a home run with two doubles in three trips to the plate. Winning pitcher Jim Weed led the victors at the plate with two hits in four appearances.

He fanned five in relief of Dan Latorre.

The team were tied at 5-5 in the first two frames when the Three Bros. ripped across their eight-run splurge. Hi-Lo came back with a lone tally in the bottom of the fourth but it wasn't enough. Atkins struck out seven batters for Hi-Lo but Charles Luckasewski was credited with the loss.

Hickey Delivers Twelve Seconds Before Curfew

BY CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

Kingston High lost the race against the clock and the ball game to Our Lady of Lourdes, 2 to 1, Wednesday at Poughkeepsie.

Twelve seconds before an iron-clad 6 p. m. curfew, pinch hitter Bill Hickey singled to center off Brian Bach to break up the six-inning contest.

Both coaches had agreed that because of previous commitments on the field, the game would be halted precisely at 6 p. m. regardless of circumstances. Only a 5:47 curfew could have saved Kingston yesterday.

Tainted Tally

A weird combination of events set the stage for Hickey's game winning blow. Don Heppner, who relieved Brother Ken when the latter pulled an arm muscle in the fourth, walked Jennings to open the sixth. Jennings stole second as Heppner fanned De-cano. Lou Perry booted a ball at shortstop Heppner balked the runners to second and third. Enter Bach, Hickey, the clutch hit and the ball game.

Toney Delivers

Proal yielded the Kingston tally in the fourth when a nice catch by left fielder Sottile on a line smash by Dan Heppner cut down a potential extra baser. Brooks Jenkins walked, went to second on Lanning's error. Jack Watzka grounded out and Anthony Toney ripped a single to left scoring Jenkins for a 1-0 lead.

Coach Mike Rienzo's Maroons took their fourth loss in 14 games this season. The Maroon almost double teamed at every position in order to give the reserves a taste of varsity competition.

Kingston winds up its season with a big one against Port Jervis next Tuesday at the Tri-State City. A victory would create a tie for the DUSO League pennant with Newburgh.

Four Saugerties Pitchers Blank Onteora, 3-0

Sperl, Spiers, Owens and Wood Winning 4-Some

Four Saugerties High pitchers pooled their talents to blank Onteora Central High, 3 to 0, Wednesday at Saugerties.

It was the Sawyers' 14th win in 17 games and something of a baseball rarity.

Art Sperl, the first of the four pitchers, got the win when Saugerties scored all its runs in the first inning. Bruce Owens went 2, Andy Wood one and Bob Spiers 2.

The quartet limited Onteora to four hits, while the Sawyers capitalized on one bad inning to win on only three hits off Paul Goins.

The Big Outburst

It all happened quickly in the first inning. Leadoff Glen Davis, singled and went to second on John Phelan's bobble. Bob Whitney was safe on a fielder's choice. Davis scored and Whitney went to second on Gary Holgate's miscue. Steve Bonack tripled Whitney home and scored the third run on Sperl's sacrifice fly. That ended the scoring for the day.

No player on either side had more than one hit. The Sawyers went against Wappingers Falls at 4 p. m. in the "big one" of the DCSL season.

Problems of Youth Burning Issue Before Oteora Panel

The Oteora High School P-TA sponsored a panel discussion entitled "Are Our Communities Youth Centered?" at its May meeting.

An adult speaker, Norma Sharp of Woodstock, shared the stage with three sharp, articulate teenagers—Susan Witko of Shokan, Patricia Kelder of Olive Bridge and Bruce Gillmor of Woodstock.

Several strong statements are alleged to have been made. Some have been denied. In a letter addressed to area editors one of the panelists, Bruce Gillmor, charged that he was quoted out of context and there was no intent to downgrade the proposed Youth Center of Woodstock township.

A new, male teacher at OCS High stood up, faced the panelists and challenged the quartet with this question: Is it true that teenagers today feel that alcohol is necessary to turn an ordinary party into a "big blast"? If so, why do parents allow their youngsters to break the law?

Some of the answers: Said Susan Witko: "Some of the older kids do bring alcohol in and give it to the younger kids at parties. But most of us minimize a lot of this stuff about heavy drinking. It's just a lot of talk to impress friends."

Gillmor's answer was even more revealing: "Drinking doesn't start at 14 or 16 or 18 today, but from 12 on up. I wouldn't say 12-year-olds do it, but some 12-year-olds in this area do drink at weekend parties. They take a can of beer occasionally."

These seemingly honest replies to the question jolted the audience and the reverberations are still being felt throughout the district. A momentous debate is in progress over what was or wasn't said at the meeting.

Teen President

Gillmor, one of the more astute youngsters in the community, was tapped as president of the Youth Center in Woodstock two years ago, when the treasury boasted a deficit of $300 and no meeting place existed for the group. The building behind the Grand Union, which had been operated as a center, had just been sold out from under local teenagers for use as a small factory and they were homeless again.

Many of the teenagers consider this situation odious but Gillmor himself says: "Teenagers are not concerned whether or not they have adult supervision. Some of them would not be very upset if the center closed."

Gillmor himself has worked long and hard for a teen center for Woodstock's youth. He was one of the guiding spirits behind a highly successful art auction last spring and another auction this winter of meats donated by the Woodstock Meat Market and owner Phil Spinelli to aid a youth center building fund. These and other events such as car washes have netted Woodstock teenagers $3,500 towards their cause.

Promised Town Money

The teenagers, say Gillmor, expect an unspecified sum of money from the Woodstock Recreation Committee to augment the treasury and enable them to build a modern new center on the town recreation field. Now housed on a part time basis in the town hall, they need more room, Gillmor says.

If the center is built, says Gillmor, plans call for locker rooms for the present pool at the field, rooms for arts and crafts and classes, pool tables and juke boxes for indoor use, and utilization of the field itself for teenage softball and football games in season. The field and its facilities have had little appeal for anyone over the age of 12 in the past.

About Youth Centers

Commenting about youth centers in general, Susan Witko pointed out that the present Town of Olive program is not geared for teenagers. There is no youth center there, only four different playgrounds for younger children.

Inspiration keeps them going, she said; makes up for lack of equipment on hand. During summer only are Olive children offered games, arts and crafts. Dances are never held.

"We need no facilities," said Miss Witko (speaking of Olive) "because we wouldn't know which section of this huge area to put it in. Most Olive youngsters must depend on the school for activities, physical education and dances.

Panelist Pat Kelder agreed with her colleague that youngsters in her area are fairly well satisfied with their lot. Transportation is a big problem, however, keeping many from using the school-sponsored activities. "We could use a Youth Center," she said, "but it wouldn't be too profitable due to the fact that we have too few kids in the area to begin with."

Avoid Responsibility

A recurring theme hit home among the listeners: there are teenagers who want none of the responsibility that goes with being an adult. Adult panelist Sharp proved this partially when she discussed a survey taken by the League of Women Voters, a survey among Oteora High School students on the need for a youth center. Of the 250 forms provided, only 79 were filled out and returned.

Most of the replies were varied and no one seemed to agree with any other on what youngsters wanted, how they wanted it or where they wanted it. Said Mrs. Sharp: "It would be hard to integrate ideas to meet the needs of all teenagers. It always has been hard and kids are, after all, just kids. They are not yet geared to the questionnaire, the endless form, the Gallup Poll. That comes later when the adult world forces bank loans, contracts, political mumbo jumbo, and psychiatric records upon us."

Mrs. Sharp was hopeful for the future, however, drew comfort from the fact that the

Golden Anniversary Series Set for Maverick Concerts

A spectacular and rewarding series of concerts has been announced by the Maverick Sunday Concerts for this, the Golden Anniversary of the musical organization. All the great works of the repertoire will be presented.

In addition, the works commissioned by the Cohn Foundation and the committee will be presented, along with such chamber musical groups as the Chamber Choir, the new Salzburg and Renaissance Quartets.

The famous Philharmonic Trio will be heard in a series of recitals. Also scheduled are the Festival Winds, the Musical Arts Trio, with John Wummer at the flute and the highly regarded local duo of William Kroll and Jacqueline Marcault.

Also planned are many Saturday evening recitals, which will be announced later when the program is finalized.

Elusive Comments

Commenting on the 50th anniversary, Basil Eliescu says: "It is rare or practically nonexistent for an organization in the esoteric and select regions of chamber music to reach the achievement of the Maverick Concerts."

"Representing 50 years of consistently superior music, the Maverick Concerts are the oldest continuous series of chamber music in the United States. Through all these years they have been the pride and inspiration of Woodstock. There is probably no form of music that generates such intimate and intense pleasure as chamber music."

"The greatest masters have written their noblest music for this medium. It is considered the

Christian Science Examines Mesmerism

"Power belongeth unto God" (Ps. 62:11). This is the keynote of the Bible Lesson which will be heard at Christian Science services Sunday.

Matthew's account of the temptations which Jesus met and mastered in the wilderness will also be included in the selections from the Bible.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following statement will be read: "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God" (p. 228). The subject will be: Ancient and Modern Mesmerism, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Demanded."

Sunday services in Woodstock are held at 11 a. m.

Helen Wolfert's Autograph Party At Record Shop

HELEN WOLFERT

An autographing party will be held at the Catskill Book and Record Shop in Woodstock Friday at 4 p. m. for poetess Helen Wolfert of Lake Hill. She is the wife of the distinguished novelist, Ira Wolfert.

The party which runs from 4 to 6 p. m. is in celebration of the publication on that date of Mrs. Wolfert's "The Music." W. W. Norton Publishers, a collection of poetry of which Muriel Rukeyser says:

"These poems open into amazing places. The short poems are precise, the long ones are apocalyptic. But the reader will discover that they are in the same voice; he will be drawn into the world of blazing creation, of desire that is a desire for the universe as well as for the power of man, this world of love—This is one of the books which could speak for the inner genius of our time."

Residents of Town

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfert came to Lake Hill, Woodstock, in 1945. It was then their summer place but is now their permanent home.

Locally, Mrs. Wolfert has held readings of her poetry at the Parnassus Square Gallery, the Art Students League and Oteora Central School. Outside of the Woodstock area, she has given poetry readings to academic, literary, religious, cafe and radio audiences.

Her poems have been published in such magazines and newspapers as the New York Times, The New Republic, Harper's Bazaar, The New York Herald-Tribune, The New York Post, Star Poetry and The Nation.

She is also represented in the anthologies, Cross Section, Treasures of Parnassus and has been reprinted in the American Poet and Spotlight.

Her first book, Nothing Is A Wonderful Thing, was published in 1946.

Leading Upstate Demo to Speak At NP Dinner

A prominent upstate industrialist and Democrat will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the New Paltz Democratic Club, at 8 p. m. Wednesday, June 2 at Pantony's Restaurant, Clintondale.

He is Howard Samuels of Canandaigua, founder and president of the Kordite Corp., vice president of the Mobile Chemical Company and a member of the board of directors of several other companies.

Well known in Democratic party circles as an outstanding spokesman for upstate party members, Samuels has been mentioned as a possible Democratic candidate for governor. He is also a recognized expert on educational finance having been the author of a 66 page report recently presented to the governor calling for massive assistance to education based on the need to halt the waste in human resources in New York State. His plan covers all aspects of education with emphasis on new ideas on financing aid to education.

A successful businessman, Samuels rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel on the staff of the late Gen. George Patton in World War II.

Howard Rust, president of the New Paltz Democratic Club, announced that new officers for the year will be elected at the dinner meeting. The general public as well as Democrats are invited to attend.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. James Williams, 44 Overlook Drive, Woodstock.

Move Is Started For Senate Probe Of Meat Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bipartisan move is under way to authorize a Senate probe of alleged sales of horse meat labeled as beef in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

A New York grand jury has returned indictments in sales of the meat there and investigators have said the meat was bought by housewives, the armed forces and schools in the three states.

Sens. John J. Williams, R-Del., and Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, are cosponsors of a resolution that would authorize the Senate Agriculture Committee to conduct the investigation.

Williams demanded he probe Wednesday.

Williams said an investigation should determine the extent of the sales and fix responsibility "for the failure of our meat inspection service."

Claims Johnson Determined to Save Bobby Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has told the Senate the Johnson administration is "determined to save Bobby Baker from legal prosecution at all costs."

He pictured the administration in a speech Wednesday as "desperate" to shift public attention from what he called influence peddling by Baker, who was secretary to Senate Democrats when President Johnson was the Senate Democratic leader.

The senator said this is why a Senate Rules Committee "hatchet man" has been leaking to the press stories designed to discredit Williams' lone-wolf investigations which forced the committee's investigations of Baker. He called the leaks "diabolical" and "damnable attempts at character assassination."

The committee is attempting to complete a final report of findings in its investigations of Baker's lucrative business deals while he was a $19,600-a-year secretary to the Senate's Democrats.

Novi Is Elected High Falls Civic Group President

John Novi has been elected president of the High Falls Civic Association. He succeeds Frank Lynch.

Others named were: Romeo Muller Sr., vice-president; Mrs. John Barman, secretary and Mrs. Ashton H. Hart, treasurer.

Members also discussed the approaching centennial and a committee was appointed to consider an aerial survey for landscape improvement.

The route of the old and new canal was explored during the recent Association Walk. A tape recording was made of the description of the activity at the various points, which included the locks, loading slips, cement conveyors, the grist mill and cement mill.

Of particular interest was the aqueduct and loading slips; the masonry being of the finest craftsmanship—hand-fitted tight joints without a binder, radius cut to fit the lock gate.

"These forgotten artisans are in a class by themselves and we feel quite humble," President Novi said.

Common sense is all that stands between controlled burning and full-scale forest fires. Before you start any fire, check local regulations... Be sure fires can't spread... Never burn on dry or windy days... and never leave fires unattended. Nine out of ten forest fires are caused by careless people. So don't be careless.

Staggering Task for 4 Plastic Surgeons Gunshot, Burns Disfigure Many Vietnamese for Life

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of South Vietnamese are so badly disfigured by gunshot and burn wounds they'll never be able to lead useful lives, says an American plastic surgeon who recently returned from the stricken land.

Only four Vietnamese plastic surgeons are available in that country of 14 million people, a severe shortage that represents a national tragedy, said Dr. Richard B. Stark, chief of plastic surgery at St. Luke's Hospital, New York.

Staggering Task

Stark returned recently from Saigon after spending a month training and assisting the four Vietnamese plastic surgeons who face, he said, a staggering task of treating casualty cases that includes civilians and soldiers. Stark was an emissary of MEDICO, a non-governmental medical group that provides aid in underprivileged areas of the world.

"Many of them (the victims) need 40 to 50 operations in order to be salvaged," said the doctor in a report to MEDICO. The report was made available to a reporter by CARE Inc., which is holding a world conference here. MEDICO is a service of CARE.

"Based on U.S. experiences in World War II and the Korean War," the report said, "it would take 15 years to perform the amount of reconstructive surgery needed to restore these people."

Important Step

"MEDICO has made an important first step in tackling the problem," he said, adding that he and seven other American plastic surgeons lectured and operated under a program "calculated to upgrade the Vietnamese surgeons."

But plastic surgery is not the only medical deficiency in the area, he said.

"South Viet Nam," Stark said, "is a medical jungle. Statistics tell just part of the story."

"There are only 700 physicians in the entire country. However, 400 of these are serving up to 10 years in the armed forces. That leaves 300 physicians who must care for the civilian population of 14 million."

The doctor said a new phase of the plastic surgery and other surgery training program is under way with the cooperation of St. Luke's Hospital.

"It is designed," he said, "to pave the way for Vietnamese surgeons to train in U.S. hospitals under approved internship and residency programs."

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Samoff board chairman of the Radio Corp. of America, suggests the United States' six giant communications companies pool their international operations under one privately owned firm.

The electronics pioneer told the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association in a speech Wednesday such a unified company would simplify relationships with COMSAT, the government-established private satellite company.

And he said it would enable the United States to deal on an equal footing with foreign government communications monopolies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of a bill to forbid states from banning union-shop agreements have succeeded for the present in blocking an effort to include in it a rider to make union racial discrimination an unfair labor practice.

Leading Democrats on the Committee decided to block the rider, planned by the committee chairman, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., by pushing separate legislation aimed at discrimination in unions.

In the age of discovery and empire building, maps were strategic weapons and Spanish sea captains were ordered to destroy their charts if threatened with capture. Bootleg map-making was likely to lead to prison or the torture chamber in those days.

Junta Restores Ovando

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — The ruling military junta has restored its armed forces commander to the co-presidency of Bolivia following his negotiation of the truce that ended a week of bloody fighting between the army and rebellious tin miners.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando returned to the post he shared briefly with Lt. Gen. Rene Barrientos last November after the overthrow of President Victor Paz Estenssoro. Public demonstrations forced Ovando to step down, leaving Barrientos in the presidency.

A few mines resumed work Wednesday, but most of them were still idle.

Drivers Fined

Two drivers charged with speeding were fined $15 each in city court today. They were: John Sherlock Jr., 18, of 37 Trenton Street, and Patricia Hamilton, 25, of Lake Katrine.

US. or Red Guns—Probe Goes On

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military authorities said today they were still unable to determine conclusively whether four jet planes that strafed a Vietnamese outpost Tuesday were American fighters or Communist MIGs.

A spokesman said fragments from shells fired by the raiders had arrived in Saigon, but more evidence was needed before it could be pinned down as to whether they came from U.S. or Communist guns.

Senate Passage of Voting Rights Bill Means Clash With House on Poll Taxes

By JOHN BECULER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate passage of the administration's voting-rights bill has set up an eventual clash with the House over the banning of poll taxes in state and local elections.

That is the chief difference between the bill that sailed through the Senate Wednesday by a 79-19 vote after five weeks of debate, and the one awaiting action in the House.

The House Judiciary Committee overrode administration objections and wrote in a flat ban on poll taxes, plus a declaration that they have been used to discriminate against Negro voters. The Senate adopted a similar declaration but rejected the ban by a 49-45 vote.

House to Hold Firm

Despite the solid support of the Senate joint leadership and the administration for the Senate stand on poll taxes, the House intends to stand by its position. Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., has already pledged his support and Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said Wednesday he would resist all efforts to weaken the poll-tax provision.

Celler's committee approved the bill May 12, but no action has been taken to clear it for debate and voting in the House. The committee's formal report will be filed Monday, and it could be another three weeks before the bill goes to the floor.

Aside from the poll-tax issue, the two bills have similar provisions, closely adhering to the legislation President Johnson requested in a speech to Congress last March 15 at the height of racial unrest in several Southern cities.

Main Effect

The main effect would be to suspend automatically state literacy tests and other such devices in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia and South Carolina and parts of North Carolina and Virginia. Federal registrars would be authorized to sign up voters in those areas where tests are struck down.

Court action to appoint federal registrars and suspend literacy tests would be authorized in any state or county where the attorney general brought suit to enforce the 15th Amendment's guarantee of the right to vote.

The Senate's passage of the bill was never in doubt after 70 Senators voted Tuesday to limit further debate. But Southern opposition was bitter and unyielding.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said the measure violates the Magna Carta, the Bill of Rights, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

"Not since Reconstruction has the Senate permitted this union to be so perverted and subjected to such a diabolical attack," he said.

But Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, who helped shape the bill and steer it to passage, said he was confident it would be held constitutional by the Supreme Court.

President Johnson thanked the Senate and called the vote "triumphant evidence of this nation's resolve that every citizen must and shall be able to march to a polling place and vote without fear of prejudice or obstruction."

The kind of bipartisan leadership that helped the bill to passage in the Senate will be missing in the House, but Democratic leaders are not worried. They have a big bulge in votes over the Republicans and are confident that in the end, with no place else to go, most Republicans will vote for the bill.

The GOP members are supporting a measure cosponsored by their party's leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, and Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, who helped write last year's Civil Rights Act and played a key role in getting it passed.

The big difference between this bill and the administration's is that the GOP version has no automatic trigger aimed at specific Southern states. Instead, federal registrars would be sent into any state or county in which 25 persons complained they were denied the right to vote because of their race.

Will Ask More to Help

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor says he plans to ask an additional 3,000 companies to help curtail the flow of U.S. dollars abroad.

The response from some 500 companies which had been asked to give a balance sheet of their international operations "can only be described as magnificent," Connor said Wednesday night.

Connor made the remarks before the Harvard Business School Club of New York, which honored him with its annual Statesman Award.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — A gust of selling knocked down stock market prices today. Dealings were brisk early this afternoon. Prices were at their worst late in the morning, then came back a bit.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down to a sharp loss of 7.26 at 909.90, having trimmed a decline of 8.40 a half-hour earlier.

The loss ranked with Monday's sharp drop of 7.80 in the Dow industrials.

Long-term profit taking combined with some nervousness over events here and abroad were linked to the selling. The decline was a broad one, taking in steels, oils, rails, motors, aerospace issues, electrical equipments, airlines and nonferrous metals.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 2.6 at 333.7, with industrials down 4.6, rails off 1.0 and utilities off .5.

DuPont lost more than 3 while losses in the 2-point area were taken by such stocks as Xerox, U.S. Smelting and Anaconda.

Some Wall Street observers said prices were adversely affected by the statement of Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, who Wednesday called recent price rises disturbing and warned of possible restrictive moves by the government.

A report of increased Russian missiles in North Viet Nam also was regarded as a possible cause for the jitters.

The more technically minded were more inclined to blame the decline on the fact that the 1965 market has pushed ahead to one historic peak after another.

letter of resignation as assistant city chairman after you read your own. And please, extend my deep appreciation to Kenneth Wilson, our county chairman, for the support he has given our attempts to strengthen and prepare the Republican City Committee for the task it faces in November, along with my wishes for his continued success."

Prominent Republican

Selection of Mayone to succeed Carroll was on recommendation of County Chairman Wilson, who in his letter praised the work of the two who resigned, and named Mayone as his choice for chairman. The committee voted unanimously to accept Wilson's recommendation.

Mayone has served as Republican committeeman in the 10th Ward. Prior to his appointment as Family Court stenographer, he had served some 10 years as city marshal and probation officer. He had served with the U. S. Marine Corps in World War 2, and is a past commander of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League. He has been active in several civic, fraternal and veterans' organizations, and has served as president of the Ulster County Young Republican Club.

County Chairman Wilson said Mayone's fine background of civic and political experience makes him well qualified to assume the leadership of the Republican City Committee, and he will do much to continue the organization as a vibrant, powerful force in Ulster County politics.

Briggs Indicted On Two Counts, Vanished in '60

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Norman H. Briggs, who was presumed drowned in 1960 but was discovered recently to be living as a cowboy in Wyoming, has been indicted on charges of insurance fraud and abandonment.

Dist. Atty. M. Andrew Dwyer disclosed here that Sheriff George Wilcox of Newcastle, Wyo., took Briggs into custody today, on the basis of two indictments returned in Troy by a Rensselaer County grand jury.

Briggs' former wife collected nearly $120,000 in life insurance after he vanished after going skin-diving near here in July 1960. She agreed to return the money, however, after it became known last spring that Briggs was living as Clay Holister on a ranch near Newcastle.

The district attorney said the sheriff would determine whether Briggs, 28 when he disappeared, would return voluntarily to face the charges or would fight extradition.

The indictments were sealed when they were returned earlier this month. The abandonment charge refers to Briggs' two children, Charles and Barbara Jean.

Their mother now is Mrs. Eri Koenig of nearby Wynantskill.

Orders New Trial For Former Coed On 1 Drug Count

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An appellate court dismissed today the major part of a marijuana indictment against a former Ithaca College coed and ordered a new trial on one count.

Mona Silverman, then 20, of The Bronx, was convicted by a Tompkins County jury in Ithaca last June on four counts involving possession, sale and intent to sell or transfer marijuana.

County Judge Norman G. Stagg suspended sentence of 3 to 10 years.

The State Supreme Court's Appellate Division, Third Department, questioned, among other things, whether statements attributed to Miss Silverman were voluntary. The court also pointed out that an investigator for the district attorney had given her the money to purchase marijuana, thus creating "entrapment."

Justice Herbert D. Hamm also wrote in the Appellate Division opinion that there was nothing in the record to show that she was associated with a vendor or profited by purchases.

The count remaining charges only possession, a misdemeanor.

The court's decision was unanimous.

Senate Assembly

Critics said the bill was poorly drawn and would have penalized persons who were not professional strikebreakers but took a job in a struck plant.

—Rockefeller's plan for establishment of the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Agency was passed in the Senate and sent to him. The agency will try to solve commuter-railroad and other transportation problems in the New York City area.

Here are additional details on the ethics issue.

In addition to prohibiting legislators from appearing for a fee as attorneys before the State Court of Claims, the Senate version of the ethics legislation added two new restrictions.

One would prevent a former legislator from lobbying at the capitol until he had been out of office for at least two years. The second would prohibit state department heads who left their jobs from appearing before their old agencies, as representatives of private business, for two years.

Further complications awaited the ethics legislation in the Senate. That chamber's sponsor of the main ethics bill, Frederic S. Berman, D-Manhattan, said he would move on the floor next week to restore the ban on practice before state agencies.

He said that was "the heart of the bill." Berman said that he had the support of Zaretzki in his plan.

Indications were the Senate would pass the bill reported out by its Finance Committee.

The ethics issue has been brewing for more than a year—since the publication of newspaper articles that raised questions of possible conflicts of interest.

The legislative schedule called for a full working day today, and then adjournment for the long Memorial Day weekend.

The lawmakers will return Tuesday afternoon.

Esopus Parade, Service Plans Are Announced

Plans for the annual Memorial Day parade and program for the Town of Esopus have been announced of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion.

The parade will form at the Union parking lot, Route 9-W, Port Ewen at 9:30 a. m. Monday and will start promptly at 10 o'clock.

Memorial Day address at the cemetery will be given by Roger W. Mabie, town supervisor. The Rev. Cecil L. McFarland, pastor of the Port Ewen Methodist Church, will give the invocation; the Rev. James Murphy, CSSR, pastor of the Church of the Presentation, the prayer for peace and the Rev. Ronald Lohrhorst, pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church, the benediction.

Award to Be Presented

Post 1298 Commander Frank Lutz will present Legion school awards and place the wreath at the memorial. Essay contest winners this year are David Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell of Ulster Park and Helen Conerty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Briscois of Rifton.

Firing squad will be made up of members of Post 1298 under the direction of Milton Tsistera.

Domingo Rebels

in downtown Santo Domingo. Rebel sources claim there are enough for a quorum, but this is challenged by anti-Bosch elements.

The Congress purportedly mustered 15 of its 27 senators and 41 of 74 deputies in rebel territory on May 3 and elected the insurgent leader, Col. Francisco Caamano Dengo, provisional president of the nation.

Thinks He Made Progress

McGeorge Bundy, who headed the U.S. negotiating team sent here to try to resolve the crisis, returned to Washington Wednesday. He was reported convinced he had made considerable progress in laying the basis for a settlement.

Bundy turned over the task of mediation to Jose Mora, secretary-general of the Organization of American States. Deputy U.S. Undersecretary of Defense Cyrus Vance remained here to assist Mora.

Bundy did not know whether he would be sent back here after reporting to Johnson on the crisis, but U.S. officials plainly felt that the main responsibility is now in the hands of the OAS.

Mora has ordered an investigation of charges by Caamano that the junta has violated human rights in the Dominican Republic. Manuel Bianchi of Chile, chairman of the OAS Human Rights Committee, has been sent here to conduct the inquiry.

Rusk to Confer

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk planned to begin conferring today with foreign ministers of key Latin-American governments on the possibility of setting up a standby inter-American force for future emergencies.

Rusk told a news conference the Dominican conflict should spur the OAS to organize such a force ready for dispatch to hemisphere trouble spots.

The new inter-American force which will try to restore order in the Dominican Republic has sent the first Latin-American troops here, enabling the United States to begin paring down its force of 21,000 Marines and paratroops.

600 Men Leave

Wednesday 600 men of the 6th Marine Regiment's 3rd Battalion were flown by helicopter to the carrier Boxer lying offshore.

Rusk said he hoped a substantial number of the U.S. troops could be withdrawn shortly. But many will remain, to form the bulk of the inter-American force.

The White House announced that American forces evacuated 6,514 persons from the Dominican Republic, including 2,282 U.S. citizens and 2,475 claiming Dominican origin. The list included citizens of 46 other nations.
